'Way of DAR' Holds In Private Enterprise

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NN-PA)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., last week challenged President Harry S. Truman's view that he could not interfere with the DAR's policy on Constitution Hall, because it is a "private enterprise."

The controversy arose when the DAR national board refused to permit Hazel Scott, concert pianist and Congressman Powell's wife, to use the hall. The DAR board reaffirmed its policy of "white artists only" in renting the hall.

Powell asked President Truman to take action, and the President issued a statement in which he said:

"Artistic talent is not the exclusive property of any one race or group. One of the marks of a democracy is its willingness to respect and reward talent without regard to race or origin.

"We have just brought to a successful conclusion a war against totalitarian countries which made racial discrimination their state policy. One of the first steps taken by the Nazis when they came to power was to forbid the public appearance of artists and musicians whose religion or origin was unsatisfactory to the 'master race.'

"I am sure that you will realize however the impossibility of an interference by me in the management or policy of a private enterprise such as the one in question."

Congressman Powell replied:

"Agrees With Spirit"
"Thank you for your very fine letter. I agree with the spirit in which it was written. However, I would like to point out that although the DAR is a private enterprise, Constitution Hall is a public institution inasmuch as it is tax-exempt.

"Can we as a nation exempt from taxation the property of people who claim to be charitable, religious or philanthropic, when they use that property against the best interests of the American people?"

Powell said that he was demanding of fellow members of the House and the Senators from New York that they immediately offer a resolution to remove the tax exemption of Constitution Hall "on the ground that it no longer is a semi-public institution."

Bilbo Comments

Such a resolution, if offered, would come before the Senate District Committee, of which Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi is chairman. Bilbo declared that Congressman Powell was "just making a damn fuss for nothing."

The DAR's stand was praised by Rep. John E. Rankin of Mississippi, causing Powell to observe:

"From now on all the members of the Daughters of the American Revolution—wherever they are located, in the North, or the East, or the West—will know that they now belong to the Mississippi chapter of which Rankin is the honorary president."

In defending their position, the DAR board gave as their excuse the "prevailing custom of the District of Columbia," citing Jimcrow schools, auditoriums, theaters, hotels, restaurants and playgrounds in Washington.

Besides continuing this vicious circle the DAR ladies—who claim descent from patriots who declared that "all men are created equal"—also defended their liberty to deprive other Americans of liberty. A statement cited the "individual liberty" and "inalienable rights" of the DAR to exercise race prejudice.

Mrs. Doris N. Cable Sues For Divorce

Mrs. Doris Norrell Cable, a resident of this city, who is presently an officer of the Women's Army Corps recently filed suit for a divorce from her husband, Dr. Theodore Cable, nationally known as a former Harvard athlete and prominent in political, civic and social circles of the city and state.

Mrs. Cable is the daughter of Dr. and the late Mrs. John W. Norrell. She attended local schools and Fisk university. She was prominent in local social and civic activities before she joined the WAC. Mrs. Cable charges cruel and inhuman treatment. She asks that the court restore her maiden name of Norrell.

CITY OF GARY FORMS RACIAL UNITY GROUP

GARY—Mayor Joseph E. Finerty announced this week that an inter-organization racial unity committee will be formed for the purpose of sponsoring discussions on racial unity.

In letters sent to the presidents of a number of organizations, Mayor Finerty said:

"The recent strike at Froebel School and the many implications that followed in its wake make it necessary for inter-community sponsorship of racial unity discussions.

"We in Gary must take positive steps in learning to live together in unity in our own city. Now, more than ever, there is need for unity within our city and the nation.

"There is no question but that unity brought us victory and made it possible for that victory to be achieved more quickly. The same unity that was so much in evidence during the war can do as much in peace. There is a great deal of discussion of the need of learning to live together in this closely knit world of ours."

N.Y. Times Presents View On DAR Policy; Differs With Truman

NEW YORK, (NNPA)—The New York Times, commenting editorially last week on President Truman's statement to Representative Powell that he could not interfere with the DAR's policy, noted that "the DAR is not altogether private."

"The DAR can't be an exclusive social club and also a public institution. It can't shut out large numbers of good Americans and expect to be venerated by those and other good Americans. It can't stand for the American patriotic tradition and close its doors to the descendants of Crispus Attucks, first American to fall in the Boston Massacre, and Peter Salem, said to have fired the shot that killed Major Pitcairn—the British officer who started the Revolutionary War."

"Surprise Wedding" Involves Two Wives And Strange Story

Reading the Recorder early in August and scanning the pages sometimes styled "Women's Interests," Mrs. Ada Matthews, 1617 Minoqua st., encountered a news article headed "Surprise Wedding." The article stated that Roosevelt Matthews had married a local woman, while attending a baseball game in Chicago. But Mrs. Matthews states that one, Roosevelt Matthews is now her lawful and legally wedded husband, or was her husband at the time the news item appeared in the Recorder. Again "Surprise Wedding" or any other term is a little bit of an understatement in her opinion.

Therefore she recently started actions for a divorce through her attorney Henry J. Richardson Jr. She says that she has been married to one, Roosevelt Matthews for 16 years and that they were living together in July when he was reported to have married another Indianapolis woman in the city of Chicago. She says she was sick in bed at her home at this time.

JURY CONVICTS TAVERN SLAYER; GETS LIFE TERM

Life imprisonment was given James Wilkey, 24 253 Columbia ave., by a jury in Criminal Court Tuesday after convicting him on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Robert Cole, 45, 815 Blake st. The men had quarreled over a package of cigarettes.

The jury of 9 women and 3 men compromised on the life sentence after nine hours deliberation to break a deadlock in which they stood 8 to 4 in favor of a death sentence. Judge William D. Bain immediately pronounced sentence which sent Wilkey to the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City.

The jury reached its verdict on the first ballot, but took twenty-one more before deciding the penalty.

Evidence presented by witnesses for the prosecution in charge of Deputy Prosecutor Edward Harley, showed Wilkey had stabbed the "dummy," as he was known last February 5, during an argument at the Paradise Inn, 798 Indiana ave. Witnesses said Wilkey accused Cole, born deaf, of stealing a package of cigarettes from the table when he had been sitting with several women. The argument was continued across the street with the dummy expressing his innocence by signs.

Wilkey followed the mute back into the tavern where the latter had formerly been employed and stabbed him from the back. He held him across the face and in the palm of the left hand with a large knife.

Wilkey was the sole witness in his defense, a circumstance seldom witnessed in murder trials. He was represented by Thomas C. Whallon, elderly attorney who passed the jury after asking them collectively the single question, "Will you give the defendant a fair trial, not as a Negro but as a human being?"

The most important factor in Wilkey's conviction is believed to have been the ringing challenge of Harley in a demand to the jury "that you forever rid this community of such incorrigible and corrupt characters as Wilkey. Remember with such men roaming the streets you yourselves will not be safe, whether on Illinois st., Meridian st., or any other fashionable neighborhood."

Several weeks ago, Rufus Kuykendall, another lawbreaker, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the conviction of a man who fatally wounded another during an argument. He also was given a life sentence.

Of the thirteen first degree murder cases disposed of since the first of the year, nine have been sentenced to life imprisonment, the remaining four, convicted of manslaughter, receiving sentences of 2-to-21 years imprisonment. Five more first degree murder cases are scheduled to be tried before the end of the year.

HATE STRIKERS SEEK GARY SCHOOL PRINCIPAL'S SCALP

GARY—Three experts in the field of public education this week conducted an investigation of Principal R. A. Nuzum's administration of the recent "hate strike" against Negro students.

The investigation was ordered by the Gary school board as a concession to the "hate strikers" and their parents. During the strike, the hate group demanded Nuzum's removal as principal, for allegedly favoring the Negro students over the whites. However, on Monday of this week, the haters had not yet filed written charges against Nuzum, although they had promised several times to do so.

The failure to file charges was consistent with the general tactics of the Hly-white group. John Jad-rnak, chairman of the adult haters' Committee of 13, and other strike supporters have avoided public discussion of the merits of the controversy. In general they have limited themselves to meetings of their sympathizers, as well as hiding behind the activities of the misled youth.

Probers Named
The educators who probed Nuzum's regime were Dr. J. M. Hughes, dean of the Northwestern University school of education; Dr. Earl W. Anderson, professor of education, Ohio State University; and Prof. Eugene S. Lawler, Northwestern University, an authority on school administration and finance.

"We have come to Gary with no preconceived notions," said Dr. Hughes. He was selected to head the probers by a committee including C. V. Riedel, former judge of the Superior Court, chairman; Finley French, teacher at Horace Mann high school, Frederick Price, a Negro parent and alumnus of Froebel, and Jad-rnak,

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo, "uncrowned mayor" of Washington and Public Enemy Number 1 of American democracy, "went underground" this week in an attempt to evade the war veterans' picket line in front of his home.

The senior Senator from Mississippi disguised himself as a laundryman in slipping through the picket line. His ruse was discovered as he was rapidly crossing the avenue before his house.

Thirteen Negro and white ex-GIs and Navy vets, WAVES and other anti-Bilboites established the picket line at an early hour. They were mobilized by Edward Bykowski, wounded Navy veteran from New York, who has won nationwide acclaim for his one-man campaign against Bilbo.

Half an hour passed, and nothing happened. The pickets at first paid scant attention when an old man came out of the house with his head bent down between two immense white laundry bag pillows, one hanging in front, one behind.

Then someone noticed two nifty policemen bringing up the rear. Veterans, trained in the detection of camouflage, perceived that the laundryman was Bilbo himself. When he realized that he was discovered, he hastened his steps and ducked out of sight across the avenue.

One veteran remarked that he "bet it's not the first time" that the Senator from the Klan country "had his head between two pillow slips."

"Human Rights March"

The picket line has been dubbed by its founder, Bykowski, as the "March for Human Rights." The pickets have vowed to carry on until Bilbo is ousted from the Senate or their funds give out. New recruits for the line are being signed up and funds accepted at 1015 M st., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Men and women in Uncle Sam's uniform gave the pickets much encouragement. A colonel watched them for 10 minutes, and then congratulated them for a "very effective job." A Navy ensign, passing by, told the pickets: "Give him hell. I'm from his state."

Two Negroes are on the "front line against Bilbo." One is Robert Clark of Washington, a Navy veteran, who got a letter from Bilbo this summer telling him to go back to Africa. He carries a sign asking whether "this is what we fought for."

The other Negro picket is Miss Dolly Mason, CIO auxiliary member from Detroit, who received one of Bilbo's "Dear N—" letters.

Others on the line include Anna P. Lobin, former WAVE; Alexander Endroni, a combat veteran of Hungarian family origin; Milton Becker, who wears an air medal and two oak leaf clusters for air combat assignments in Italy; Leonard Golditch, heart of the Committee to Combat Anti-Semitism, and several Army veterans. Josephine Piccolo of Brooklyn carries a sign saying: "You called me a Dago, Bilbo. My brother died in combat."

The hate leader. The educational investigators were to report their findings to the school board, which would make the decision as to whether Nuzum, will remain as Froebel principal.

The Gary Teachers Federation went on record last week as condemning the hate strike. The group declared its opposition to any procedures in connection with the strike which were in direct conflict with the principles of democracy.

Supporters of Nuzum presented about 150 petitions, bearing from Patrolman Alexander Posey, 27, was appointed to the rank of uniform sergeant in the Indiana police department, Jesse McMurry chief of police announced last week, following a meeting of the board of safety. He succeeds Sgt. Orville Bennett who died several weeks ago.

Sgt. Posey, appointed in 1938, was supervisor of boys at the Northwestern community center and is succeeded by Patrolman Albert Booth.

School Strikes

Citizens Join Labor Leaders, Score Bias

CHICAGO, (ANP)—The recent anti-Negro school strikes here were branded last week by white leaders as an "insult to democracy."

Hitting the racial demonstrations against Negro high school students here and in Gary, Ind., 24 prominent white persons signed a statement in which they expressed "our deepest apologies" to Negro communities in the two cities for "the disgraceful action of the striking white students and their parents."

"These racist demonstrations have been an insult to democracy and to the hundreds of thousands of whites and Negroes who deplore this American form of Hitlerism," they said.

"We commend the colored community for the calmness and restraint they have shown in this crisis. They can rest assured that a score of powerful organizations and many thousands of individuals in the Chicago area are now taking steps to see that these walk-outs don't happen again and that increased justice be given to all minority peoples.

"We further pledge not to walk out on democracy and on this problem which has its roots principally in the attitude and actions of the white man, not the colored."

Two labor unions, Local 657 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America (AFL) and Local 1-29, United Steel Workers (CIO) adopted resolutions condemning the strike and calling for punishment of those guilty of inciting them. Resolutions of both labor unions called for educational programs stressing the importance of interracial unity.

Members of the youthful party said she had been given the gun by her teenage brother to hold while he danced. Their parents were ordered to appear with their children at Juvenile Aid Division headquarters.

N. Y. DAR Leader Hits Jimcrow Stand Of National Board

IRONDEQUOIT, N. Y.—Mrs. James A. Small, regent of the local DAR chapter, this week declared she was "outraged" at the Jimcrow practices of the DAR national board.

"I am outraged," she said, "at the un-American attitude taken by an organization which is supposed to be pure American."

Mrs. Small, who apparently is a real daughter of the American Revolution, said she had called a meeting of the chapter to take action on the national DAR ban against Hazel Scott's appearance in Constitution Hall.

DR. BETHUNE ADDRESSES GA. WOMEN'S GROUP

ATLANTA (ANP)—Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder and president of the National Council of Negro Women, warned a large crowd at Wheat Street Baptist Church here last week that "there can be no peace without justice and fair play."

Addressing the Atlanta Metropolitan Council of Negro Women upon the inauguration of their workshop program, the "first lady" said:

"This is an outstanding year, a year marking a new era, a year of overcoming difficulties, of uniting forces of men, of realizing that in unity there is strength. They boys are coming back but they are not returning with the same spirit; they gave their best and they are coming back looking for the best. They will not be fearful, they will be courageous, looking the whole world in the face, standing up fighting for their rights."

Dr. Bethune likened this era unto her dream of long ago, when she hoped, worked and prayed that Negroes, too, could be integrated into the finer things in America. "God will bring about what we want and set it before us, if we but have faith, courage and determination," she declared.

She urged Atlanta's women to fight on, realizing that this is the greatest day since Lincoln and a day to stand up and fight, or never achieve.

The next day, Dr. Bethune made a tour of Atlanta colleges encouraging the youth to take advantage of the new day for Negroes.

Second Letter

Parts of a second letter received at a later date say:

"Write someone to get in touch with the medical authorities of Washington to get on the Army doctors about the soldiers who have colds here. They are working the boys in the rain where they get soaking wet, even though they don't have to work them like that. Someone must get behind the battalion commander of this outfit to correct the injustice to the boys out here. The officers give soldiers extra duty for taking sick call. They throw court-martial on them for the slightest excuse. The articles in the Negro soldiers' EX are higher and they are collecting money from the soldiers for all kinds of funds."

"The white soldiers in the 6th Army are beating up colored boys and the colored backs up the white boys in their mistreatment. The colored are not allowed to stand guard with weapons. They have collected all guns. The colonel in charge made a statement that he would court-martial the first Negro that harmed a white soldier in his battalion. He does nothing to settle the fights."

"It is not the colored soldiers who start these fights. White boys come in the colored area and start these fights. The condition is rapidly spreading all over the island. They are throwing hand grenades in the stores and places where Negro soldiers are. There is almost a race riot starting over here. The MP's cannot stop the white soldiers for they have even gone on skirmishes with tanks and machine guns. . . ."

Young Girl Shot

A fourteen-year-old girl suffered a bullet wound in the thigh while dancing at a party last Sunday night at 922 N. Elder street. She is recovering in City hospital.

Investigating officers were told that the girl was wounded when a revolver was accidentally fired by a sixteen-year-old girl as she was twirling it around her finger. Members of the youthful party said she had been given the gun by her teenage brother to hold while he danced. Their parents were ordered to appear with their children at Juvenile Aid Division headquarters.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ANP)—Charges of brutality by their own white officers and armed assaults by white Sixth Army soldiers were made by members of a Negro battalion now stationed in the Philippines, and commanded by Lt. Col. Vandergrift, in letters smuggled here through strict censorship.

One young soldier, whose name cannot be revealed for fear of reprisals, recently wrote:

"White soldiers of the 6th Army came near camp and started making trouble with the colored soldiers. Many on both sides have been killed with gun and knife fights. The colonel collected the colored soldiers' guns before the war was over. The minute the Negroes made camp their guns were collected. And Negroes stood guard with empty guns. When white soldiers beat up the colored boys and they reported it, the colored boys were court-martialed for protecting themselves and getting beaten up. The colonel in charge is Lt. Col. Vandergrift. This battalion should be investigated."

"The officers here have organized a group about themselves. Some investigation by the FBI or other agency which can really get at the facts should be made. Negroes are being sniped from the roadside and set upon by gangs of white soldiers and the white officers will do nothing to protect the boys."

10 to 30 signatures each, to the school board. The petitions were sponsored by Pat Riley, chairman of the anti-discrimination committee of the Indiana State CIO. They asked that Principal Nuzum "remain at Froebel School as before," and declared that otherwise the school board will have "performed a Munich sell-out on the Negro people of Gary and all democratic-minded people of this city."

Another pro-Nuzum petition bearing 150 signatures was presented by Froebel alumni. The sponsoring committee included Coach John D. Smith of Roosevelt School; Nathan Sayles, a teacher of East Pulaski School; Miss Hazel Whitlock Gray; and Andrew Smith, a recently discharged overseas veteran. Also on the committee were three white Froebel alumni, Attorney Marlo B. Tomsich, Dr. Frank Neuwelt and Mrs. Milton Lebenberg.

Coach Smith told the board that when he was on the Froebel football team in 1918 and 1919, boys of both races swam in the school pool together and discrimination was at a minimum.

Mrs. Gray warned that the tactics of Coach John W. Kyle, who has been appointed dean of boys at Froebel since the strike, would be "the core of serious trouble." Dr. Neuwelt called for drastic action to control the Froebel situation. He charged the school board with kowtowing to parents who encouraged lawlessness, and bargaining with law violators.

The room was crowded with representatives of the CIO, the Civil Liberties Committee, the Froebel P.T.A. and other pro-democracy groups, while Jradnak was the only member of the adult haters present. He declined to take part in the discussion, saying: "You asked me to come in to listen, so I'm not talking."

Speaking for the Temple Israel Sisterhood, Mrs. Carl Mahala announced that a public mass meeting against intolerance will be held in Memorial Auditorium on Sunday, Oct. 21.

Request Veteran Action

A request that veterans' posts take a stand on the issue of the Froebel strike was made by Dr. L. A. Bingham, delegate of Calumet American Legion Post and veteran of two wars, at the monthly meeting of the Council of Consolidated War Veterans. Dr. Bingham said that in the name of good Americanism the strike should be discouraged, and in the name of democracy equal opportunities for white and colored children should be demanded in the schools.

The question was referred back to the 18 affiliated veterans' posts, and a vote will be taken at the next meeting Nov. 12, it was announced.

Discussion of the strike continued in the Voice of the People column of the Gary Post-Tribune. A writer signing himself only as "A. W." made a lengthy defense of school segregation and master race theories. His arguments were refuted in letters written by Nathan Sayles and A. L. Hodge.

SUNDAY RAIDS

seekers begin to wend their way to their favorite spots, Captain Joe Stutsman, ably assisted by Lieut. Preston Heater, Sgt. Haney, Patrolmen Carmichael and Chambers, put in an unexpected appearance at 965 Edgemont ave., where several men were engaged in watching two ivory cubes roll across a table. The officers decided it was a craps game and arrested Rolfe Porter, 39, who lives at the above address, for keeping a gaming house and gaming; Allen Ellis, 39, 2437 North Western ave.; and Henry Gilbert, 38, 847 W. 25th st. The last two were charged with gaming and violating a gaming house, with a further charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons being placed against Ellis. The cases of all three were continued until Oct. 24.

An hour later, the eagle-eyed officers sauntered casually into a poolroom at 1301 E. 25th st., where they found Robert Clark, 63, 323 W. New York in charge. Things were rather quiet, but not so much so that Officer Russell Carmichael failed to notice a brightly painted pinball machine with the come-on sign practically all over it. He tried his luck and found it all good, winning all four of the games he played. Regretfully he reminded Clark of the law against placing slot machines in public places and sent him to headquarters. Clark's case was continued until the 18th.

Next on their list was the place at 1206 E. 15th st., where the officers saw what they thought was a poker game in progress. It was quickly interrupted and the following arrested and charged with gaming: Buster Dodds, 47, 1296 E. 15th st.; Frank Fletcher, 55, 2733 Temple ave.; Fred Franklin, 36, 1625 Martindale ave., and Claude Box, 50, 1414 Martindale ave. The property scooped up by the officers as evidence included $7.01 in cash, several decks of playing cards, a pint of whiskey and four chairs. Next day all of the men were discharged by Judge Niblack with exception of Fletcher whose sentence was withheld.

Capt. Stutsman and Lieut. Leo Troutman wound up the day's activities with a visit to the Sportsman's Bar at 551 1/2 Indiana ave., where they said they found Wilson B. Hawkins, 45, 220 W. North st., and Mrs. Elizabeth Yee, 31 1144 N. Capitol ave., drinking beer and whiskey. Along with them, the officers arrested Emmett Rudolph, 55, 715 1/2 N. West st., and confiscated several bottles of whiskey and beer, tables a stool and a rack. Charged with violation of the beverage act, all were granted continuances of their cases until Oct. 24.

VETS ENROLL IN LINCOLN, MO., U. TRADE CLASSES

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Forty veterans have enrolled for courses through the "Veterans Opportunity" program conducted at Lincoln University, an institution approved by the U.S. Veterans Administration for the education and training of discharged service men and women. While some of these enrollees are former Lincoln students, the majority are newcomers to the campus.

Offerings in agriculture under the program include general farming practice, livestock production, creamery, poultry production, farm machinery maintenance, landscape architecture, agricultural engineering, vegetable gardening, fruit growing and floriculture.

Opportunities for business practice include stenographic technique, secretarial practice and bookkeeping practice.

Trades and industry, which has proved popular, includes graphic arts, carpentry, machine shop practice, drafting, cabinet making, masonry practice, sheetmetal practice, auto machinery, and service station operation.

The fine arts course offers music, art and dramatics. Home economics embraces housekeeping, cafeteria management, home nursing and quality cooking.

Information on the program may be obtained by writing Alan T. Busby, chairman of the Veterans Program, Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo.

Truman Sends Senate Mollison's Name For U.S. Customs Judge

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NNPA)—President Truman sent to the Senate last week the nomination of Irvin C. Mollison, Chicago attorney, to be a judge of the United States Customs Court.

"I am happy to learn of the appointment," commented Rep. William L. Dawson (Dem.-Ill.) of Chicago. "I have known Mr. Mollison for many years and I know he will fill the position with honor and distinction and will be a real asset to the federal judiciary."

Congressman Dawson supported Mollison for the position, for which he was recommended by Attorney General Tom C. Clark. He also had the support of Sen. Scott W. Lucas (Dem., Ill.), Rep. William A. Rowan (Dem., Ill.), and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago. Democratic National Committeeman for Illinois.

Lescot Government Releases Haitian Newsmen From Jail

NEW YORK (ANP)—Haitian newspapermen, jailed in August by the administration of President Elie Lescot, have been released, according to reports received here by the International League for the Rights of Man.

On Aug. 7, five Haitian newspapermen were suppressed, nine editors were jailed, and one editor was banished into exile for criticizing the Lescot regime—said to be financed by Santo Domingo's Fascist chief, Trujillo. The suppressed newspapermen were "La Patrie," "L'Action Nationale," "L'Ouvrier," "L'Orion" and "La Nation."

Release of the journalists is attributed to the protest made by the International League, and to aroused public opinion in the United States. Copies of a protest cable sent by the International League to Lescot were circulated by foes of the Lescot regime in Haiti.

On Sept. 21 another cable was sent to Lescot, asking for the release of editors imprisoned in 1941 or previously.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. ADA V. GILBERT

Burial was in Crown Hill cemetery, Craig Brothers in charge. Survivors include one brother, Martin McDowell, Kansas City, Mo., and one niece, Mrs. Helen Corpening, Morganton, N.C.

FLA. GOVERNOR ORDERS PROBE OF LYNCHING

MADISON, Fla. (ANP)—An investigation into the lynching of Jesse James Payne, 20, was ordered last week by Governor Caldwell.

Payne, who was locked in an unguarded jail here on charges of assault with intent to rape a five-year-old white girl in Monticello, was removed from the jail sometime between Wednesday night and early Thursday morning. His body, riddled with shotgun slugs, was found on a roadside seven miles from here.

He had been wounded when captured by a posse near Monticello on July 4, two weeks after he had been accused of molesting the daughter of his farmer employer, and was taken to the Raiford State Prison by a police guard for safekeeping.

Payne was indicted here last week and brought from Raiford the following day. He was locked in the Madison County jail with several prisoners when he was removed.

ed and lynched. Deputy Sheriff A. H. Wade said he brought Payne here from Raiford by a circuitous route because he "was afraid something like this would happen."

Sheriff Lonnie Davis denied knowing anything about the lynching beyond the fact that Payne had been taken out and shot. Governor Caldwell's probe is expected to go into the question as to why the jail was unguarded when a Negro was being held on a rape charge.

Contestants Announced For NAACP's First Annual Tag Day

Contestants for the first annual "Tag Day" sponsored by the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were announced this week by Miss Johnnie Louise Dogan, director of the project, which will occur Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 20 and 21.

Each contestant will have a container to collect money for the tags, and will wear a ribbon designating her as one of the solicitors. The winner will be named "Miss Indianapolis NAACP", and will be announced later.

The purpose of the "Tag Day" is to raise funds to be used to meet local office expenses, as the branch is attempting to start on a more liberal budget to increase the effectiveness of the organization, and thus to greater benefit the community at large.

If every person in the city purchases a tag, Lowell M. Trice, president of the local branch, pointed out, the goal of the project will be realized. As every person in the community utters a word of commendation for the organization, everyone should feel it his duty to help.

Mrs. Ruth Bell is assistant director of "Tag Day", with the youth council of the organization also working, under the direction of Miss Pauline Willis, youth secretary.

Contestants, in addition to those shown in the photograph, include Mesdames Georgia Sarell and Dorothy Turner and the Misses Patricia Lewis, Millicent Mitcham, Doris Webster, Dolora Goens, Regina Mayo, Ernestine Kelly, Frances E. Dawson, Hazel League, Anne Hazelwood, Jean Wads-

CELESTIAL GIRLS HOLD MEETING

The Celestial Girls club met Tuesday evening of last week for a regular meeting at the Indiana 104 Elks club home, with Mrs. Anna Rankin hostess.

Mrs. Rankin served a delicious luncheon, along with refreshments from the Elks. The table was beautifully decorated.

Officers and members present were Mrs. Sadie Murray, president; Miss Theresa Anderson, financial secretary; Mrs. Gladys Brown, recorder; Mrs. Cordelia Moore, critic; Mrs. Ada A. Jones, treasurer; and Mesdames Mervin Hill, Laura Israel, Marie Blue, Eric Walker, and Hattie Lee Perkins, and Miss Marie Geter.

Mrs. Evelyn Pulliam was a guest. Mrs. Hattie Perkins was also a recent hostess. Mrs. Octavia Waites will be next hostess at her home, 545 North Senate ave., apt. 29, Oct. 23.

CHURCH FEDERATION TO HOLD LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

A city-wide leadership training school will be held beginning November 6, it was announced last week by the Department of Religious Education of the Church Federation of Indianapolis. Classes will be held each Monday evening for five weeks.

Courses in the program include Creative Bible Study in the Teaching of Religion, Administration of the Total Church School Program, The Guidance of Learning Activity, and The Art of Planning Worship.

Annie Malone, Poro Head, Visits Eastern Branches

NEW YORK CITY — Mrs. Annie M. Malone, founder-owner of Poro college, has been continuing her 45th anniversary celebration, which started in July in Chicago, by visiting her eastern branches. She awarded diplomas to graduates in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Newark, N. J., and New York.

Mrs. Malone was driven east by Mrs. Travers Bell accompanied by her cousin, Mrs. Josie Clark, Carbondale, Ill. Cary B. Lewis, publicity director, went ahead of her.

Every graduating class entertained her with a banquet and gave her presents. Mrs. Fannie Roundtree, dealer in Jersey City, presented the first money to go towards the Annie M. Malone foundation, which has been started by Rev. Joseph M. Evans, Chicago, pastor of the Metropolitan community church. The foundation is to help train and educate young people.

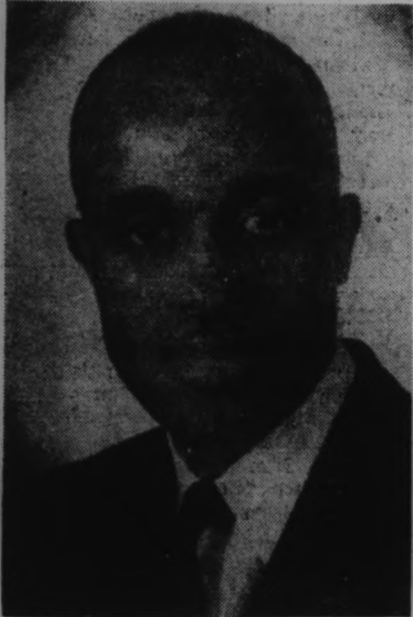

Mrs. Malone delivered an address and awarded diplomas to the large graduating class in New York. The class entertained with a banquet after the exercises. Meritorious graduates were given awards by the college.

Patricia Louise Berry was principal speaker at the Newark commencement exercises. Social affairs were given honoring Mrs. Malone, and she expressed her appreciation for the kindness and loyal support of the eastern branches.

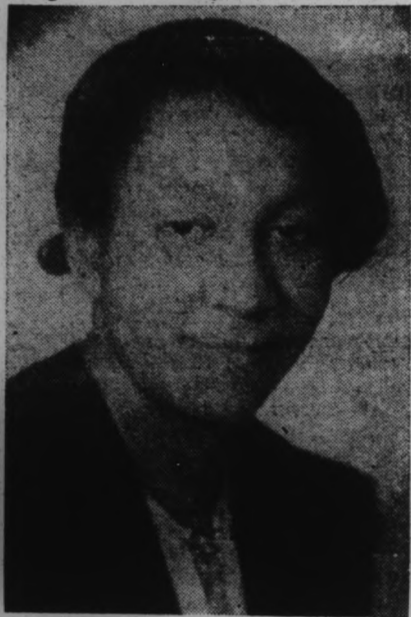

Miss Baulah V. Caldwell, Baltimore high school teacher, was main speaker in Philadelphia. Mrs. Malone, presented by Cordelia Crumrine Johnson, president of the national beauty culture league, awarded diplomas.

Her tour ended in Baltimore, where there was another commencement.

Douglas Center News

By Elsa Jackson

Ping pong, football, and basketball have reached an all-time high at Douglas, with boxing threatening to run away with honors. Jacques Durham is preparing to start boxer's Golden Glove training.

You may not know it, but Douglas has more entries and more winners than any other participating outfit. Indianapolis had only one entry in Chicago, and (Yes! You've guessed it.) that was Budde "Brownie" Blair of Douglas Pal Club No. 4, directed by Cpl. David N. Clark, Jr., still staying at the head of the list.

Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays are boys' days, while girls have Tuesdays and Thursdays. Saturday from 6 to 9:30 is Teen Time.

Newly elected officers of the Spotlight club are Helen Rice, president; Ruth Lane, vice-president; Helena Bosley, secretary; Viola Young, treasurer; and Lena Gadcott, chaplain.

Princeton Lodge Plans Holiday Trip

PRINCETON, IND.—The Juvenile Lodge No. 619 will sponsor a "Hobo Halloween Trip" Thursday starting at 7:00 p.m., from the home of Mrs. Amelia Speed, the "Hoboes" will stop at six camps before retiring. Mrs. L. O. Woods was called to Indianapolis Tuesday by the illness of her granddaughter, Betty June Woods, who is a patient at City hospital there.

Mrs. Irene Bronaugh and granddaughter from Danville, Ill., are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardman and family. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Roundtree and Mrs. Edna Cooper and son, Eldon, visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and family in Washington Sunday afternoon. Samuel Brown, Sr., spent Tuesday in Evansville with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolfe. Vernal Stewart, Indianapolis, was the Tuesday dinner guest of Mrs. Edna Cooper. Mesdames Pearl Stewart and Merton are on the sick list. Delbert Chavis received his honorable discharge after serving three years in the Pacific, and is home with his mother, Mrs. Anna Bell Chavis, and family. Pvt. John E. Mitchell also received his honorable discharge after serving 30 months in the ETO. He is visiting relatives and friends. Harry Goach, Jr., spent the week-end in Indianapolis with relatives and friends. T/Sgt. James Harris, Camp Lee, Va., is spending a 14-day furlough with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Cole, and other relatives.

Members of the group are Hazel Dycus, Lexie Staples, Hazel Starks, Lela Haywood, Ramona Garrett and Ruth Frink.

Attucks' quintet, composed of Edgar Williams, Ernest Smiley, William Gore, Eugene Cabell and Ethel Johnson, will sing for Franklin college convocation Wednesday.

The elected officers of the Crispus Attucks H-Y Club are Oscar Grundy, president; Frank James, vice-president; and Julius Rhodes, secretary.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Sgt. M. J. May
Sgt. M. J. May, husband of Mrs. June May, 220 West 24th st., received an honorable discharge from the army recently after serving two years in the ETO, where he participated in the invasion of France and in the battles of Northern France, Rhineland, Ardennes, and Central Europe, and the Normandy campaign. He has five battle stars and holds the Good Conduct medal and other campaign ribbons.

George W. Posep, son of Mrs. Dora Posep, 2446 Hovey St., was discharged after serving 4½ years. He was stationed at Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo. He was a Recorder leader while in camp, and enjoyed receiving it regularly.

Pittsburgh Courier Signs Newspaper Guild Agreement

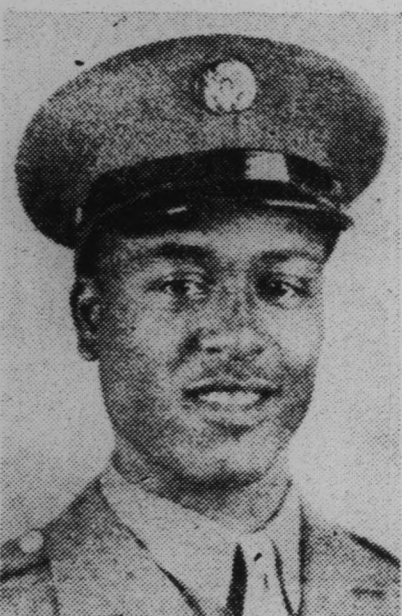

PITTSBURGH (ANP) — The Pittsburgh Courier signed a work contract for its employees in the circulation, collection, advertising and editorial departments last week with the American Newspaper Guild, CIO. According to Steve Ripky, international representative of the guild, there is no retroactive pay in the contract.

The unit, organized by James M. Reid, news editor, includes full coverage for some 65 members and partial coverage for a number of other employees whose jobs are of an executive or confidential nature. The negotiations began in April and went into effect last week.

Courier workers will receive approximately $25,000 more in annual pay, Reid said.

Pvt. Herman Johnson
Pvt. Herman Johnson, son of Mrs. Lillian Johnson, 1321 West 25th st., returned to Camp Beale, Calif., after spending a turlough at home with his mother and friends. A student at Indiana university when inducted, he received his basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., before being transferred to Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo., where he completed his technical training in personnel administration.

T/5 Leon Jarvis

T/5 Leon Jarvis, son of Isaac Jarvis and the late Mrs. Laura Jarvis, stationed at Livzon, sent regards to all his friends. He attended CAHS before being inducted in 1942, and has been overseas 18 months. He hopes to be home soon. He is the grandson of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith Edson.

PROGRESSIVE TAX PROGRAM URGED BY AKA

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A more progressive tax program was urged by the National No-Partisan Council on Public Affairs, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, in testimony before the Senate Finance Committee this week.

Mrs. Thomasina W. Johnson, AKA legislative representative, pointed out that the reconversion tax program passed last week by the House fails to provide relief where it is critically needed, while giving unnecessary windfalls to the most prosperous corporations.

Negroes, the majority of whom are in the low and middle-income groups, will benefit least from the House tax plan, it was shown. The AKA council urged that the Senate revise the House tax program on the basis of "taxation according to one's ability to pay."

The "ability to pay" program would give relief where it is needed most, increase the nation's purchasing power, speed up reconversion and pave the way to full employment, it was stated. At the same time this program would provide adequate revenue for the government.

In line with this program, the AKA group urged tax relief for small business and veterans; repeal of excise taxes on movie tickets, inexpensive toilet articles, cosmetics, leather goods and the like; and repeal of the automobile use tax. On the other hand, it was advocated that tax changes should be made to discourage speculation in securities, real estate and farm land.

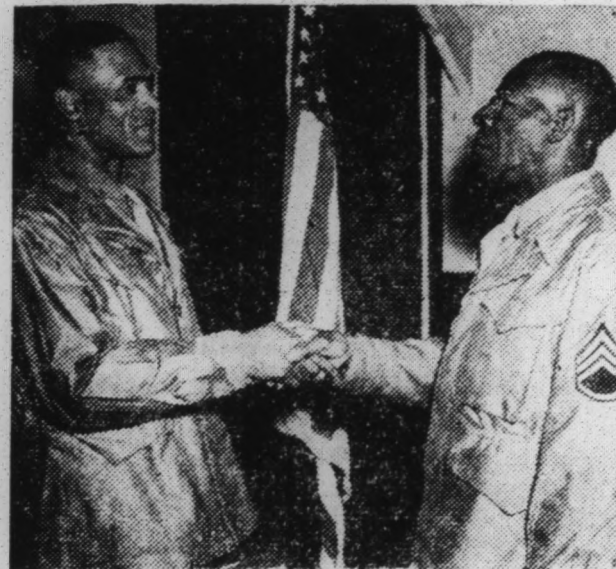

PFC. PAUL J. BEENE WINS PROMOTION IN GERMANY

TWENTY-FIRST CORPS, SEVENTH ARMY, Germany — Paul J. Beene of Indianapolis has been promoted from private first class to first sergeant in Battery "C" of the 350th Field Artillery Battalion.

Sergeant Beene is the son of Mrs. Ruth B. Beene of 740 Roscoe st., Indianapolis. He has been in the Army since October 1941, and came overseas in December 1944. He holds the Good Conduct Medal, American Defense Ribbon and the ETO Ribbon with two Battle Stars.

AT THE GROUND BREAKING FOR MEHARRY ALUMNI HALL: Alumni and former students of Meharry Medical college, Nashville, are in the midst of a nationwide drive to raise funds for the erection and equipment of Alumni hall, ground for which was recently broken in ceremonies on the campus. The photographs show groups and activities identified with the event. Picture No. 1 shows the dental class of 1920 which won the competition of graduating classes for honors in the building campaign. Left to right, front row, are: Dr. E. A. Goodloe, E. Chicago, Ind.; Dr. R. B. Taylor, Okmulgee, Oklahoma; Dr. C. O. Henry, Tyler, Texas; Dr. T. N. Johnson, Shreveport, La.; Dr. C. E. Bomar, Orange, N.J.; Dr. W. R. Henry, Philadelphia and Dr. J. P. Gipson, Fulton, Mo. The other groups show principals in the ground breaking ceremonies for Alumni Hall to be erected in 1946.—(ANP Photo.)

"ANOTHER HITCH": Pfc. Frank Crumpton, left, shakes hands with S/Sgt. Geo. Little, right, both signed up soon after the liberalized bill was enacted. It is just another hitch for these two vets of Headquarters Section, Station Complement, Camp Atterbury, Ind. S/Sgt. Little has served more than 32 years in the army, and Pfc. Crumpton, a mere recruit has served 25 years.

WISCONSIN U. STUDENT WINS MANY HONORS

By SONIA CURL

MADISON, Wis. (ANP) — Just one of a number of "firsts" to the credit of Argyle Stoute, student leader, is the distinction of being the first Negro in the United States to head a chapter of a national honorary professional society. Stoute, who is now working for his doctorate degree at the University of Wisconsin, was recently elected president of the campus chapter of Psi Chi, national honor society in psychology.

Outstanding in scholastic achievements, liberal movements, student government, professional societies and cultural activities, "Gus" is recognized as a leader of exceptional ability and personal magnitude. The only Negro student to be elected to the University of Wisconsin Student Court, Stoute received two appointments and was named senior justice of that body.

Another contribution was his organizing of the Negro Culture Foundation, of which he was three times president. He introduced Negro History Week on the campus, with the purpose of demonstrating the Negro's contribution to society and fostering discussion in racial matters. Negro History Week has now become an annual state institution.

As a member of the Student Board housing committee in 1942-1943, Stoute promulgated the idea of making a thorough investigation into the problems of housing at Wisconsin. The 42-page report, published by the group after six months of work, began the progressive movement toward solution of the campus housing problem.

The United States Student Assembly elected Stoute to its executive committee for four semesters. Last year he was elected to associate membership in the American Psychological Association. He has received a "plus" grade in psychology, and in his spare time writes poetry.

Memphis Citizens Raise $300,000 To Build C.M.E. Hospital

MEMPHIS (ANP) — More than $300,000 had been raised by Memphis citizens of both races to assist the C.M.E. church in building a modern hospital, as the campaign came officially to an end last week. It was expected, however that funds will still be coming in for many months.

White workers at a luncheon at the Peabody Hotel reported a total raised of $299,231, under the leadership of M. A. Lightman, Edmond O'Neil and others.

Final reports from Negro workers, who met in the evening hall showed that they had raised $91,135. Dr. A. W. Womack led the group.

The C.M.E. Church has pledged $100,000 to the campaign, which is expected finally to top the $500,000 mark.

Louisville Pastor Addresses P-TA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — DOUG LASTER SCHOLAR, Rev. C. E. Allen, pastor of Hope community church, delivered an interesting address to pupils and parents at the first P-TA meeting at the Douglass school last Thursday afternoon. He kept both young people and adults intensely interested from start to finish. Musical numbers were furnished by primary pupils of Mrs. Edman and Miss Warren, accompanied by Miss Edwards, kindergarten teacher. Among visitors were Mesdames Mary L. Smith, Alice Rice, Lizzi M. Howard, Lula M. Barker, Mary Lind-say, Rudena Green, Lillie Cleaves, and William Roberts. Officers elected for the P-TA this year are: Mrs. Lizzie Howard, president; Mrs. Rudena Green, vice-president; Mrs. Anna E. Bertram, recording secretary; Mrs. Mary E. Sherrell, financial secretary; and Miss Rachel C. Jones, treasurer. Next meeting will be held Thursday, Dec. 7, at 3:00. * Banner School: The first meeting of the P-TA will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:00, with Rev. C. E. Allen principal speaker. Musical selections will be furnished by students. Election of officers will also be held. All parents and friends are urged to attend. * Mrs. Garret, mother of Mrs. Al-herta Overall, who has been quite ill on her farm near Georgetown, for days is reported improving. * The faculty and pupils of Douglass school were happy to have Oliver Rhodes talk to them about learning to play musical instruments for a school orchestra last Friday afternoon. Rhodes was a splendid teacher of band and orchestra music in our public schools before he joined the army. * Quinn Chapel — Only chapel choir directed by Miss R. Lillian Carpenter with Mrs. Ruth Brown, organist, furnished music for the afternoon service at Taylor chapel, A.M.E. church at the annual conference in Bowling Green. A large number of people from Louisville and other cities attended. * The present system is represented by an old dirt road, which winds up hill and down dale, curving this way and that, with road-signs reading "Layoff," "Half Week's Work," "Help Wanted," "No Help Wanted."

Guaranteed Year Round Wage For Worker, CIO Research Department Presents Case

By Charles S. Preston

GUARANTEED WAGES THE YEAR ROUND, issued by Department of Research and Education, CIO; Washington, D. C.; 10 cents. This excellent CIO pamphlet presents the case for the guaranteed annual wage, a forward step which was approved by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The idea of "guaranteed wages the year round" is so simple and reasonable that the reader is surprised it has not received more attention long before this. While details may differ in various industries and plants, the basic plan would follow this outline asked for by the United Steelworkers of America, CIO:

1. Pay for at least 40 hours each week.
2. Pay for 50 weeks each year, plus vacations.

Thus the income of the working people would be made stable and regular. The worker would be able to budget his expenses and plan his life, just as most salaried employees and Mr. Richbuck do today. According to the pamphlet's authors, this would have a stabilizing effect on our whole economy. If workers' incomes were made regular throughout the year, the incomes of farmers, merchants and others who sell their products to the workers, would also become more regular.

Would Bring Security

The crazy ups and downs of the worker's life, caused by a period of manpower shortage, being followed by a period of unemployment, etc., would be eliminated. The American worker and his family would begin to live like human beings, secure in the knowledge that tomorrow's labor would bring tomorrow's pay.

The point is well illustrated by the cover of the pamphlet. The present system is represented by an old dirt road, which winds up hill and down dale, curving this way and that, with road-signs reading "Layoff," "Half Week's Work," "Help Wanted," "No Help Wanted."

Already in Operation

Guaranteed annual wage plans are already in operation, the pamphlet reveals, in several hundred plants. "They have been negotiated by unions in such industries as meat packing, steel, dairy, fur and leather products, textile, printing, hardware, and grain and cereal milling, as well as in wholesale and retail trade, and in services like cleaning and dyeing and custom tailoring." The benefits to the community of the plan at the Hornell plant in Austin, Minn., are well described.

Many objections to the guaranteed annual wage are, of course, raised by employers. These are on about the same level as the objections raised in bygone years to the abolition of child labor, to free universal education, to workmen's compensation, to the 10-hour day, and to the 40-hour week. One has the feeling that after a sharp struggle the objections and resistance will be overcome, and the annual wage will take its place alongside the earlier advances.

The pamphlet is attractively printed and illustrated with lively charts and photographs. A foreword is contributed by CIO President Philip Murray.

Approved by Willkie

This would have at least two advantages for the national economy. First, it would support the domestic market for consumer goods. As the late Wendell L. Willkie observed:

"An annual wage to those who work in plants with long seasonal or periodic shutdowns seems fair and necessary. And our post-war economy must be built on a high wage level if we hope to furnish a market for the goods of an expanding peacetime production. Our wheels can keep turning only if our workers can keep spending."

The other great advantage would be that the employers would be given a compelling incentive for keeping up full production and full employment. Every worker knows that under our present system, the workers themselves are regarded as the one variable item which the employer can use or dispense with at will. The maximum pay for land and buildings by the year; it pays for the use of money by the year (bonds); it sets aside money each year to buy new machines to replace the old. Only the worker can be laid off and called back from week to week, or indeed from hour to hour.

There is no logic to this system, there is no humanity to it, and as the pamphlet observes, "this

TEACHER IN CITY SCHOOLS SEEKS DIVORCE FROM MATE

Mrs. Lorene T. Cook, 2913 N. Arsenal avenue recently filed suit for a divorce from her husband, Booker T. W. Cook now residing in Philadelphia, Pa. The suit is pending before Judge H. B. Pike of Superior court No. 2.

Mrs. Cook charges as her grounds for divorce that her husband deserted and abandoned her without making reasonable provisions for her support; that he had not provided for her for more than two years and that she was entitled to a decree of divorce. They were married in May 1928 and separated in March 1943. Mrs. Cook is a teacher in the city schools and her husband was once employed at the local post office as a letter carrier.

Now 4 POINTS FOR USED FATS

Help Increase Supplies of Soap and Other Peacetime Products By Saving More Used Fats

Industrial fats far short of last year! We are almost down to the bottom of the barrel. The nation's industrial fat supply is millions of pounds less than it was in 1944. We need fully as much as last year to help make the soaps and other civilian goods you want and need so badly. So...

If you want more soap and soap flakes... if you're dreaming of nylons, sheets, cotton fabrics and want them to hurry back to the store counter... you can help by saving those used kitchen fats as you never saved before! Save every drop, every day!

These fats are vitally necessary to help speed greater supplies of soaps and hundreds of other things—like new cars, electric washers, irons, refrigerators and tires. Industry must have these fats... to help get to you more quickly the peacetime products you've been longing to have for years!

So skim and scrape and scoop just as you did so faithfully before V-J Day. It is a peacetime job now—a job that will help you. And to prove how important it is, your government has increased the point bonus. So help meet this nation's need by continuing to save used fats.

State Police Stage Year Round Drive On Drunken Drivers

COL. A. S. KILLIAN

Motorists who drink and then drive were named as targets for state police troopers by Colonel Austin B. Killian, state police superintendent. The "drive" will continue 365 days a year, he said.

"With traffic accidents soaring, we must take steps to eliminate the drunken driver once and for all," the police official asserted.

State police arrested 526 drunken drivers in the first half of 1944, and 539 in a corresponding period this year. Last year, he said, one of every four fatal accidents involving a drinking driver or pedestrian.

BISHOP WALLS SPEAKS AT ANDERSON CHURCH

ANDERSON — The cornerstone of the new Wallace Temple AME church, on Forkner st. near 15th was laid on Sunday of last week.

Bishop W. J. Walls was the principal speaker at the ceremony in which the Masonic Lodge also took part.

A large delegation from the Jones Tabernacle at Indianapolis was present, headed by its pastor, Rev. J. W. Moore.

Rev. J. W. Simms is pastor of Wallace Temple.

KOKOMO — Ralph Russell and a group of his pupils gave a recital Sunday at the Main Street Christian Church. Miss Joyce Stone, soprano, of Anderson, was among the singers who appeared.

NEW HAMPSHIRE CHILDREN VISIT VACATION BUDDIES OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK (ANP) — White children from New Hampshire last week-end visited the homes of their Negro vacation playmates here. The children were brought here by the Rev. Bradford Young of Manchester, N.H., chairman of the Department of Christian Social Action of the State Council of Churches.

Similar visits have been made by white children from Vermont, the state where Negro children were first brought into white homes for two weeks in 1944. The Rev. A. Ritchie Low, who originated the program in Vermont, said that this year the idea spread to New Hampshire, Connecticut and Illinois.

Rev. Low said that he would like to see the interracial good-will program spread to other sections of the country—particularly the West Coast with its Japanese-American population, and the Southwestern states with sizeable Mexican settlements.

"The idea is not to regard people as white and Negro but as human beings, and fellow Americans to be understood and appreciated," Rev. Low declared. He remarked that the church should carry through on the affirmative, not merely talking or adopting resolutions about goodwill between the races.

In Connecticut, the Rev. Oscar Lee of Hartford, a member of the Rural Life Committee of the State Council of Churches, worked out a similar program. Fifty Negro children from Harlem spent two-week vacations this summer at homes of Connecticut white families.

U.S. Supreme Court Will Review Sentence Of Death In Washington Cathedral Slaying

HISTORY MEET WILL DISCUSS NEED FOR FEPC

COLUMBUS, G. (ANP)—The nation's fair employment practice movements will be discussed here by Dr. Louis Kesselman of Ohio State university during the 13th annual meeting of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History on Oct. 26-27, 28.

Dr. Kesselman, who has given considerable attention to the steady demand for fair employment practices in America, will analyze "the significance of the FEPC movements" as well as the current FEPC bills in congress.

The opening public session will be held at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts. Dr. Carter G. Woodson, founder and director of the history association, and Dr. James H. Ridd, curator of history, Ohio State museum, will be the principal speakers.

At the Ohio State museum, Dr. L. D. Turner, Fisk university, will speak on "African influences in the development of the English spoken in America," and Prof. Willis Dumble, Ohio State, will discuss "A Footnote to Negro Literature." Dr. Eric Williams, Howard university, will speak on "Inequalities in the Caribbean," during the afternoon session Saturday at the Social Administration building.

The society is showing a three-month exhibit on "The Negro in Ohio, in the United States and in Africa." Poems by Paul Lawrence Dunbar will be included among the rare volumes of Negro literature as well as the original reports of the first three meetings of the Ohio anti-slavery society, which features the leadership of John Rankin, famous Ohio abolitionist. Rankin's house in Ripley, O., became the first stop on the underground railroad for thousands of slaves.

National Offices Of NAACP Moved To Willkie Memorial

NEW YORK — For the third time in its 36-year history, the NAACP has moved its national office. On Oct. 18 the Association began occupancy of two floors in the Willkie Memorial Building in midtown Manhattan.

The entire nine-story building will be occupied by organizations working for causes in which the late Wendell Willkie was interested, it was declared. The NAACP occupies the fourth and fifth floors.

The Willkie Building cost $250,000 to purchase and remodel, and of this amount the NAACP pledged $30,000, of which $28,000 has been paid.

When the NAACP was organized in 1909, it occupied a small office donated by Oswald Garrison Villard at 20 Vesey St. The next move was to 70 Fifth Ave., and in 1922 it moved to 69 Pine St., where it has been until now. The Willkie Building is at 20 W. 40th St.

DETROIT CLERIC: The Second Baptist Church of Detroit last week gave its associate pastor, Rev. A. A. Banks, Jr., a full fledged anniversary honoring two years of full time service. Rev. Banks received a handsome purse of several hundred dollars and was given a vacation of one month.

Second Baptist is the largest and oldest Protestant congregation in Michigan, with 3,764 financial members audited for 1945. The church was organized in 1836 and has never split during 109 years of service in "Downtown Detroit." Its present pastor, Dr. R. L. Bradby, has served this congregation since 1910.

Beach Project

Jim Crow Recreation Issue Disturbs Gary

GARY — Development of a new, non-segregated beach playground along Lake Michigan was advocated by Mayor Joseph E. Flinerty last week as a solution to the problem of Jim Crow beaches. At the same time, the Mayor declared that the Marquette Park beach should remain "for whites only."

Mayor Flinerty made his proposal, described as "a hot potato" by the Gary Post-Tribune, in a talk before the Rotary Club.

The proposed new beach would be developed in a city-owned tract in the western part of a mile-long section of Lake Michigan frontage, lying between Marquette Park on the east and the line of Clay St. on the west. In the event his plan is adopted, the Mayor suggested that Clay St., which it extended southward would cross U.S. Highways 12 and 20 at a point approximately the Dunes White House, be extended northward to the lake.

The initial cost of the project, with a large bathing pavilion, picnic and auto parking areas, outdoor fireplaces, baseball diamonds and other improvements, would be about $450,000, the Mayor estimated. He said that the city could well afford to finance it.

Chief-Post War Problem.

The problem of giving Negro citizens free access to the Lake Michigan beach area "is unclipped by any other in Gary's post-war building and development program," is a problem we have been picking up and tossing aside again for years with the explanation we'd take it up seriously "when the war is over," he said. "Well, that time has come. The war is over, and the post-war period is upon us. It is a problem that can no longer be deferred, nor do I believe I should be put off any longer or if we, as we like to say it, put any stock in the democratic way of life."

Experts of the National Urban League have endorsed the park plan as "the answer to Gary's so-called 'beach problem,'" the Mayor declared. "I have submitted my plans for this new park to Negroes and whites alike. I am prepared to tell you that while some Negroes do not like it, the overwhelming majority of our colored citizens would be more than happy to have it."

Taking up the question of the present Jim Crow beach facilities, the Mayor observed that "the question has arisen: Shall we open Marquette Park to Negroes as well as whites?"

"The answer is, of course, that if we were ready for or living in a true democracy, we could do no less. However, adding together every bit of evidence I have been able to assemble, I have been forced to conclude that Gary still is unready for an immediate comingling of races at Marquette Park."

The Mayor pointed out that there are no laws barring Negroes from Marquette Park, but merely prejudices. However, he showed readiness to yield to undemocratic forces, declaring: "Obviously, with many of our citizens still entertaining such blind prejudices and misconceptions, it would be most unwise to 'open' Marquette Park."

Comment by Newspaper.

The Gary Post-Tribune, in a leading editorial on the Mayor's plan, commented that as a result of segregation of parks in the early days of the city, a "white residential area" grew up around Marquette Park. The paper hinted that such a residential area would not grow up around the new non-segregated beach.

Showing the same "split personality" as Mayor Flinerty on the subject of discrimination — and also winding up firmly on the side of reaction—the editorial double-talked: "Some day our children will wonder about the curious beliefs held by their ancestors but they do hold them and they must be given consideration." The writer apparently overlooked the fact that "the children" have been even outdoing the "ancestors" in race prejudice recently.

The editorial analyzed the opinion of the Negro community on the Mayor's proposal. Some Negroes approve of the project, it observed. Other Negroes say they are not opposed to the park and they may use it, but they are not asking for it and will make no promises.

Other Negroes are opposed to the project because it means they are to stay out of the present park, and still others want the money spent for neighborhood parks in congested areas, where Negro children can play the year round, the editorial declared.

WORLD WAR VETERANS' QUESTIONS ANSWERED ON BENEFITS, RIGHTS

By CHARLES S. PRESTON

This is for G.I. Joe — and G.I. Jane.

The men and women of our Armed Forces, who have saved the nation from Axis tyranny in the world's most terrible war, are now — sooner or later — marching home.

What is the nation prepared to do for them? Not as a payment, for they can never be repaid; but as a measure of lightening the burden of sacrifice that they have shouldered through their war service.

What are the benefits which, under federal and state laws, the veterans of World War II are entitled to?

This question is of vital importance to every veteran. G.I. Joe and G.I. Jane should know their rights under the law, in order to take full advantage of what is rightfully coming to them. Otherwise, there is the danger that many benefits will be lost, simply through ignorance of the law and failure to make application.

As a service to our reader veterans, therefore, the Recorder is beginning in this issue a series of articles on veterans' benefits. The material in this series will be largely taken from the excellent pamphlet, "When G.I. Joe and G.I. Jane Come Marching Home," published by the Indianapolis Chapter of the American Red Cross, Marion County veterans who desire further information, or who have questions which are not answered here, should get in touch with the Red Cross at the Chamber of Commerce Building, 302 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis.

DISABILITY COMPENSATION

Compensation or pension for disability due to disease or injury incurred in or aggravated by service in World War II is payable through the United States Veterans' Administration.

Q—How much disability must the veteran have suffered in order to qualify for compensation?

A—At least 10 per cent of total disability, as determined in accordance with standards established by the Veterans' Administration.

Q—Is mental disability covered, or only physical disability?

A—Both.

Q—How much compensation is paid?

A—The present rate is $11.50 a month for a 10 per cent disability, running up to $115 a month for total disability.

for total disability. In between 10 per cent and 100 per cent, the amount of compensation is determined by the percentage of disability.

Q—Are there any additional payments?

A—Yes, in cases of loss of limb or blindness.

Q—Suppose a veteran suffers a disability which is not connected with his service?

A—When a veteran with no service-connected disability becomes permanently disabled in civilian life, he is entitled to $50 monthly disability pension. This is increased to $60 monthly after 10 years, or when the veteran reaches the age of 65. Single veterans with more than $1,000 annual income, and veterans with dependents with more than $2,500 annual income, are not eligible for this type of pension.

Q—What about dependents of a disabled veteran?

A—No extra compensation is paid to the dependents, except when the veteran is taking training for vocational rehabilitation. However, the Veterans' Administration sometimes divides the money between the veteran and his dependents.

FILE CLAIMS EARLY.

Q—When should the claim for benefits be filed?

A—As soon after discharge as possible. If you delay, it may be difficult to collect the medical evidence needed to back your claim.

Q—Where can a veteran get assistance in filing his claim?

A—At the local Red Cross office. The Indianapolis office is at the Chamber of Commerce Building, 302 N. Meridian St., open from 8:30 A. M. to 10 P. M. on weekdays and from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. on Sundays for this purpose. Service organizations such as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans will also help you. Or you can consult a lawyer.

Q—Is there a chance of delay before the claim is granted?

A—In some cases.

Q—What can the veteran do in the period between filing the claim and the granting of the claim?

A—Under an agreement with the Army and Navy, it is the responsibility of the Red Cross to aid the veteran and his family during this period.

Richmond NAACP Branch Addressed By Robert W. Starns

RICHMOND.—The local branch of the NAACP held a meeting last Sunday which was addressed by Robert W. Starns, field secretary of the Indianapolis branch.

Mr. Starns emphasized the necessity of action in building a large, effective organization. The local branch has been organized only a few weeks, and while Richmond is a city of Quaker influence, progressive Negro and white citizens feel that more democracy can be promoted in the community.

The paradoxical role of the Negro in his surroundings was cited by Mr. Starns, who said that it is necessary for Negro people to develop an all Negro group while the segregated pattern while working to destroy segregation.

The local branch was stating following a statement of a liberal white citizen that "we cannot help the unorganized Negro people of Richmond." Mr. Starns pointed out that this was an indication that many friends would be found on the organization began to act. He pointed out also that the day of the docile Negro had passed, and that no community must tolerate any Negro allied with the reactionary group his community.

Research Expert States Rules For Racial Harmony

GARY — Five simple rules for improving understanding of other problems were laid down by Dr. Marian Edman in a talk before the Anselm Women's meeting at the YWCA last week.

Dr. Edman is a research expert for the Bureau of Intercultural Relations in New York. She gave the five rules as:

1. Watching one's vocabulary for derogatory words often used in identifying people of other races, creeds or beliefs.
2. Stopping rumors by finding out the facts behind them.
3. Refusing to listen to or repeat jokes and anecdotes based on nationality or other differences.
4. Crediting all peoples with their actual accomplishments.
5. Learning to know individual persons of other races, nationalities or cultural groups.

Dr. Edman said that women are in a fine position to write all elements of the population, because of their status in the family group and their close contact with children.

Charles Bonner, membership chairman, announced that applications for membership will be accepted from anyone wishing to join the group, although an attempt will be made to keep the organization representative of all cultures and nationalities.

ANP Editor Starts New Radio Program

CHICAGO (ANP)—A 15-minute radio program, Monday through Friday, was launched here this week over WJJD, with Frank Marshall Davis, poet and editor of the Associated Negro Press, as commentator.

The program, entitled "Bronzeville Brevities," features hot jazz recordings and news comments intended to make the rest of Chicago better acquainted with activities and personalities associated with the South Side. Commercially sponsored, it is heard from 3:15 to 3:30 over the large independent station recently purchased by Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun.

Davis is considered an authority on hot jazz. He conducts a syndicated column called "Rating Hot Records," and teaches a course entitled "History of Jazz Music" at the Abraham Lincoln School in the Loop.

GARY SPEAKER HITS SUPERIOR RACE THEORY

GARY—"Our society cannot afford our prejudices," Mrs. E. M. Kirtland told members of the social studies group of the American Association of University Women at their meeting last week in the home of the chairman, Miss Lillian Roush, 449 Van Buren.

Attacking the idea of racial superiority, Mrs. Kirtland declared:

"Anthropologists know that if we were to select the most intelligent, imaginative, energetic and emotionally stable of mankind, we would find all races about equally represented."

The speaker made the point that prejudices are not inborn, but acquired later in life. "Hate or love of particular people is not in us at birth. This development depends on our experiences, at home, neighborhood or school. If our early impressions are wrong, we have the capacity for growth and development to transform old habits and attitudes, if we will to do so."

If forces in our society which produce prejudices were reduced, the prejudices would be reduced. Mrs. Kirtland declared. She advised the group to work in the community for legal controls to implement democracy, have the laws well enforced, support social reforms, and remove fear and insecurity.

The discussion was the first in a series on "Intercultural Relations," which the group has chosen as its topic for the year.

GUARD OF TOMB OF WASHINGTON WILL RETIRE

MOUNT VERNON, Va. (ANP)—When William H. Holland, only colored guard and lecturer on duty at the tomb of George and Martha Washington, retires within the next few months after a 40-year vigil, the 87-year-old tradition of having a Negro sentinel among the staff of guards may come to an end.

It is understood that already plans have been made to have a white guard succeed Holland when he retires. However, so far as it is known, there is no criticism of Holland's work. In fact, he is considered the most informed of the staff of guards who keep a 24-hour vigil at the tomb.

Since 1905, Holland has opened the gates of the tomb for every President and foreign dignitary who has come to Mount Vernon to place a wreath on the sarcophagus of the nation's first President. Among these have been all of the Presidents from Theodore Roosevelt to Truman, and also the present king and queen of England.

Two years ago, "We the People," a network broadcast, invited Holland to appear on one of its programs to relate some of his experiences as a guard and lecturer at Washington's tomb, but his supervisors would not permit him to accept the invitation. It is understood, however, that he will appear on "We the People" after he retires next year.

Holland became a guard at the tomb in 1905, succeeding George Ford, a former slave on the Mount Vernon estate, who began guarding the tomb in 1858, the year the home was restored. Holland, who is 61, was born on the plantation of Nellie Curtis, a granddaughter of Martha Washington.

Hoosier Soldier, Singer, Gains Fame In Far Northwest

ATTU, Aleutian Islands — Pvt. Joseph Hawkins of Marion, Ind., has made a name for himself as a singer on this bleak northern island, which is sometimes called "the loneliest place this side of hell."

Private Hawkins recently completed a ten-week radio show called "Something Sentimental," which was presented by Attu's Armed Forces Radio Station, WX-LL. Hawkins and his accompanist, Cpl. Calvin Lamley, selected the scores and wrote the scripts for the show, which was designed to ease the homesickness of soldiers stationed here.

Hawkins has been singing with trios, quartets and bands since grammar school days in Marion. He has worked with numerous GI shows, helping to produce them and singing in them. His post-war plans call for resuming his college career at Wilberforce University, where he intends to study music and art.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hawkins of Marion.

GARY SOLDIER WINS PROMOTION IN INDIA

CALCUTTA, India — William W. Sneed, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sneed of Gary, Ind., has been promoted from Private First Class to Corporal.

Corporal Sneed is serving as a truck driver with a Quartermaster Truck Company. He has been in the India-Burma Theater since November 1943. Before entering the Armed Forces in January 1942, he worked at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., Gary.

LOCAL POST-WAR PLANNING INCLUDES HOUSING

The housing census taken in 1940 indicated that near 40 per cent of the houses or homes in the land should be torn down and replaced or otherwise substantially rebuilt. The same census reported more than 116,500 occupied dwelling units in the City of Indianapolis.

Of this number more than 71,400 were occupied by tenants or householders other than the owners of the properties. The estimated total yearly rental returns on these dwelling units was more than $3,310,000 monthly or more than thirty-nine million dollars yearly.

The 1940 census shows that more than 18,500 of the total occupied dwelling units needed major repairs. The facilities or accommodations of these dwellings are noted but there are no indications of the age or depreciation other than major need of repairs.

However housing units like men grow older and less useful, and the United States Department of Commerce in a survey of our city of 1934 reported more than 17,200 dwelling structures then more than 40 years old. A majority of 16,400 reported in bad condition were generally declared unfit for human habitation.

The 1934 survey showed more than 12,500 dwelling units were overcrowded. CONDITIONS IN 1945 ARE MORE DEPLORABLE. The 1934 survey showed 14,500 units without running water. Neither gas or electricity were available in more than 7,100 units. The toilet facilities of more than 21,700 were outside the housing units, while 35,500 had no bath facilities.

The spiritual, mental and physical vigor of a nation have as one of their primary sources the decent home. One of the great failures of our civilization, is the design of things under which million of people, representing the Nation's promise or strength of tomorrow, are found without decent shelter.

In ill-housing is to be found undeniably the first and major spawning grounds of disease, juvenile delinquency, crime and other anti-social specters. The like applies to this "no mean city of homes," which should be rebuilt and decentralized in a large measure.

This program should include the clearing out of blighted industrial housing areas, to be followed with the erection of standard housing at prices which the people can pay, along with recreation centers and parks. Moreover housing in our community, state and Nation looms above all other problems of practical post-war planning.

NUZUM MUST STAY

The progressive civic and labor groups of Gary, both Negro and white, have earned the admiration of the state for their fight against fascism in the Calumet city. Yet it is clear that powerful if silent forces are arrayed against them. The situation at Froebel School is fundamentally not improved.

True, the "hate strike" is ended and the pupils have returned to school. But the Gary school board made an unjustifiable bargain with the strikers and their adult backers. The board agreed to an "investigation" of the charges hurled by the hate-strikers against Principal Richard A. Nuzum.

Just how seriously these charges should be taken is seen by the fact that "it is charged" that the white principal treated the minority of Negro students better than he did the white students!!! When that happens, it will be something to see.

It is declared that Principal Nuzum took the position of requesting the investigation, in order "to secure my fellow principals against this sort of vilification." At that point the school board should have declared its full confidence in the courageous principal. Then it should have proceeded to launch a thoroughgoing investigation of those who brought about the strike.

To make it even worse, the fascist-minded parents are permitted to name one member of the investigating committee, "to present their side." The truth is that they have no side, which is the reason why their public statements are few and far between. Their "arguments" will not stand the light of day, and they know it. So they try to avoid public discussion.

It is a plain case of Democracy against Fascism. All America demands that the Gary authorities stand firm for the democratic way of life. The hate-strikers must be investigated, and NUZUM MUST STAY!

THE ANTI-POLL TAX BILL AND FILIBUSTERS

The Senate Judiciary Committee recently voted to put before the Senate (carry it to the Senate floor) the anti-poll tax bill. This is the measure which would abolish payment of a poll tax as a requirement to vote in primary and general elections for federal offices.

A similar measure has failed to pass the Senate on three previous occasions, after having been passed in the U.S. House. Using the filibuster as an instrumentality, politicians representing one-fourth of one per cent of the voters of the land, have thwarted primary moves toward equitable democratic processes.

In regards to the present anti-poll tax bill (House Bill, 7) Senator Bilbo has promised to stage a 30-day filibuster, if necessary to defeat the measure. Sen. Bilbo was elected with 168,000 votes in 1940 and in 1942 Sen. Eastland of Mississippi by 51,000 voters.

Under such conditions and from time to time the rule of the majority if directed toward the promotion of equity in our democratic institutions is defeated by "Bilboism," which is eternally opposed to the real principles of representative republican government as indicated in the U.S. Constitution. But this time the filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill must be prevented and a blow delivered against Bilboism in all its evil operations.

Every Senator should hear from his constituents, in a demand that he follow the necessary steps in preventing a filibuster on the anti-poll tax bill. The same demands should be made upon Sen. Alben Barkley, majority floor leader of the Senate. The bill must not be tabled, postponed or amended, which would only serve to kill it. No adjournment, "gentlemen's agreement" or other business should be allowed to intervene. In this way the people can bust the filibuster and the increasing evils of "Bilboism" overflowing into all parts of the land.

PLAIN TALK:

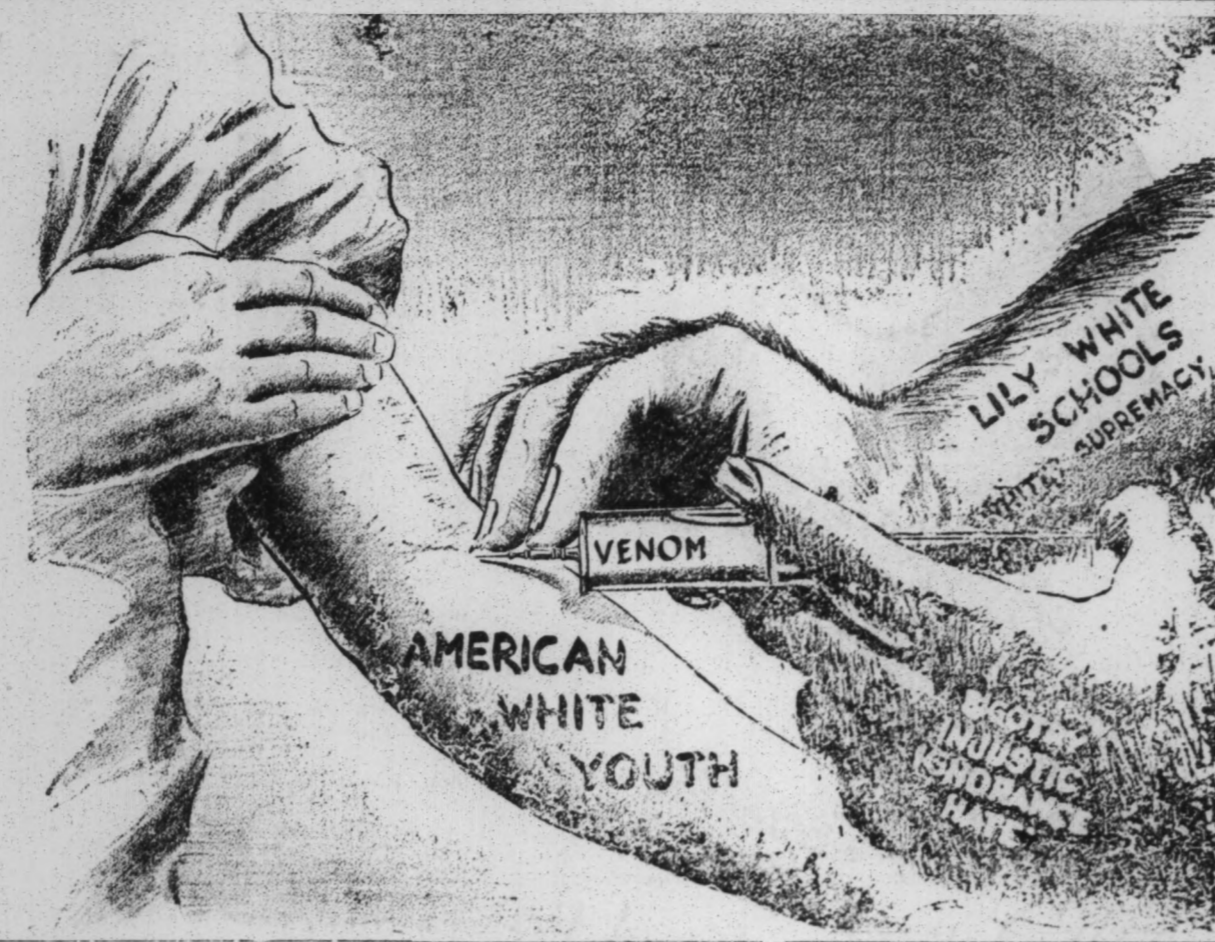

By DAN GARDNER

BY DAN GARDNER
SOUTH SEEN BEHIND
A: NEGRO HIGH SCHOOL STRIKES

The high school situation in which white students are striking against colored classmates resolves itself into this picture: the white, reactionary South is trying to kill mixed schools in the North before liberal influences force such schools on the South. While agitation by adults in Gary, Indiana, Chicago, and New York City has been called "fascist," and "Nazi," the fact remains that everything that has happened so far is along the traditional anti-Negro line followed by southerners in the past. First, the mind of the white child is "conditioned" at home by preachment of white supremacy doctrines by the parents, who learned the theory at the knee of their parents and so on back to the first days of slavery in this country; then the child is sent to school to talk it over with other white children who have been similarly indoctrinated. All that is needed, then, for some older person to provide the spark to start the conflagration.

If the propagandists contend, rioting and other disturbances can be stirred up among white students attending classes with colored pupils, school boards in such cities as Gary, Chicago, and even in New York City, may be induced to rezone school districts and thereby create all-Negro and all-white schools. Chicago, with its huge colored population concentrated on the South Side ranks with Harlem as ideal territory for such goings on. In fact, for many years white students living in Negro districts on Chicago's South Side, have been sent to all-Negro schools such as Wendell Phillips and DuSable High. A rezoning of schools in Harlem would create overnight the segregation the South and its sympathizers want to see in the North.

Talk is potent in keeping alive such dangerous issues. Actual fighting, disturbances and riots are means whereby the whole matter can be brought to a head, and those stirring up anti-Negro strikes in Gary, Chicago, and New York well know it. Such strikes can easily be instigated in Detroit, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Boston, Philadelphia, Dayton, and elsewhere and soon the nation would awake to find the theory of the South in complete practice where it had not been given a full chance before. There seems, incidentally, to be a tendency on the part of both

Is There Any Cure For Cancer?

YOU CAN'T CATCH CANCER
By Dr. John E. Moseley

Contrary to the belief of most people cancer is not an inherited or contagious disease. Many persons in those families there has occurred a cancer death, live with the quiet fear that sooner or later a similar fate will overtake them.

It is believed at present by the best medical authorities that a person may inherit a predisposition or weakness to cancer, but not the cancer itself. Some other factor or factors must operate in addition to this weakness to produce the disease. One such factor is thought to be chronic irritation.

For instance, if two young men started the habit of pipe smoking at the age of 20, one at the age of 50 might develop tongue cancer or lip cancer at the exact point of contact with the hot pipe stem or the irritating smoke. The other might go on smoking until he reached the age of 100. He might in fact live pipe smoking as one of the causes of his good health and longevity. On the other hand, had neither of these men started smoking, neither would have developed a mouth cancer. The unlucky fellow who did develop this disease did so because he had inherited a predisposition or weakness to it which he added a source of chronic irritation. The other smoker was subjected to a chronic irritation but was resistant to the development of cancer.

Obviously we cannot change our inheritance, but we can control irritations. We can see that dental plates are properly fitted, that the mouth is kept clean, and that all sources of chronic irritation in the body are eradicated.

and Tunisia in North Africa; the British possessions in West Africa—Acra, Nigeria and Sierra Leone; Haiti, Mexico and Portuguese possessions of Mozambique and Angola, Africa.

Democratic party chieftains might well consider some of these posts as rewards to deserving colored Democrats, whose education, training and background fit them to represent this Government in foreign countries.

Prejudice Must Be Fought

By Philip Murray
President, Congress of Industrial Organizations

The man who nourishes in his heart prejudice against his fellowmen because of differences in race, color or creed is a really sick man, made so by his own distorted thinking. The man who unknowingly harbors such prejudices is an infected man. Either requires treatment administered with varying degrees of the nation's system of discrimination, which colored men could only represent their Government.

Examples are Brazil, where Adolph A. Berle, Jr., is present ambassador, as well as in other Latin American countries which look with distrust at democracy as practiced in the United States; Ethiopia where the present ambassador is Felix Cole; the French possessions—Algeria, French Equatorial Africa, French West Africa, the French West Indies, New Caledonia in the South Pacific, Oceania in the Central Pacific, Madagascar (off the coast of South Africa).

JOHN E. MOSELEY, M.D.

ated. Venereal infections should be cleared up immediately and not permitted to linger over a period of years. General personal hygiene and cleanliness are silent but effective partners in the fight against cancer. After having babies mothers should always stay under the doctor's care until they are discharged. Many women feel that once the baby is born nature will adequately take care of the healing processes. As a result many such women carry the unhealed injuries of childbirth with them year after year and this acts as a dangerous source of chronic irritation.

The belief that cancer is contagious has no foundation in truth. Doctors and nurses handle cancer patients daily with no protection whatever. Cancers are handled with the naked hand in routine examinations and there is no case on record of a human being catching cancer. As a local wit put it recently "You do not catch cancer, cancer catches you."

promise with neither inequity. In the field of prejudice, our National CIO Committee goes about its work steadily and quietly. We hold to the theory that we can get more done in that fashion. Public denunciation of the evil accomplishes little. We get results by taking hold of the concrete case, and we find that in a given situation the difficulty usually can be traced to a few viciously inclined persons. Most human beings are basically decent. We appeal to the decency of the majority and they settle with the vicious who have misled them.

While it is necessary to put out fires of prejudice, it is much more important to prevent such fires from starting. With the killing and maiming of human beings on battlefields halted—and we devoutly hope Almighty God will give us the grace to build and keep a just peace—we find ourselves confronted with new prejudices piled on top of the old. We must oppose these. To despise a man's evil deeds and to hate the evildoer are two entirely different things. To group the two together and call the result fascism will get us nowhere. Fascism is only a fancy term for super-discrimination, invented by aggressors who could not afford to call their doctrine by its right name.

We cannot stamp out ideas with rifle and bayonet. All we can accomplish is to make the vicious idea inoperative and keep it so until we have brought to bear on it the benefits of truth through education. The overwhelming majority of our American citizens do not refrain from robbing banks through fear of the policeman and the jailhouse.

Joe Louis has never brought forth any proposal for the solution of the problem. BOOK REVIEW

TOM PAINE: AMERICA'S GOD-FATHER, by William E. Woodward; E. P. Dutton & Co., New York; $3.50.

By Richard C. Henderson

One of America's best-known historians takes it upon himself in this book to clear away some of the lies about a man who probably did more than anyone else to further the cause of freedom in America. Dr. Woodward shows by the title of his newest book what he thinks of Thomas Paine. Paine spent the first 40 years of his life in obscurity. Born in a small English town in 1737 of Puritanical parents, Paine did not show by any external signs as a lad or young man that he would some day instigate a revolutionary war.

He wasn't even much of a dreamer. But he did have the spirit of rebellion, slight though it was, even as a boy. He ran away from home twice, and almost set out upon an adventurous sea voyage. He was a school-teacher, he wasn't always meek and mild.

His father was a stay-maker (corset-maker to you), and, following the trend of the English social set-up of the time he was expected to tread in his father's footsteps. He did—for a while.

After a rather uneventful 40 years in England, with his only literary work a few pamphlets, Tom Paine found himself in the New World. He didn't know exactly why he was there, but the Fates must have smiled on America. He had already made friends with Benjamin Franklin, then one of the world's most renowned statesmen.

"Rights of Man"

Acquaintance with Franklin gained him entry into some of the country's most select circles. With the "Rights of Man" planted his seed to grow in the forest of resentments which eventually brought about the Revolutionary War.

While others were seeking some means of ameliorating conditions between the colonies and England, Paine was all out for WAR. He made no bones about it, either. After the war was over, and won, we come across the first in a series of inexplicable incidents, or circumstances, which seemed to hound Paine all his life. He never received any adequate compensation for the role he played in the formation of a new country.

He was fought by certain enemies, among them John Adams, who really wanted a sort of aristocratic monarchy. Throughout his life Paine was fought, often bitterly and unfairly, by jealous and fearful political enemies. It was then that many of the uncomplimentary stories began about Paine, many of them carrying on until the present day.

Taking time out to work on a model metal bridge—possibly a forerunner of our extension bridge—he went to France. While there he once again got mixed up in a revolution—the great French Revolution—and barely escaped with his life. This period in France is one of the most exciting in his life, and Dr. Woodward relates it with marvelous color.

One of the most noticeable traits about Paine is his extreme clear-headedness. In two world-shaking affairs, the American and French revolutions, if his advice had been followed, the world would probably be a better place now.

Long before Abraham Lincoln, Paine spoke out against slavery. Of course a mind that could nap out plans for such a perfecting a nation would be among the liberals of the time.

"The Age of Reason"

Paine did much to harm his reputation by writing one of his greatest works, "The Age of Reason," in which some believe he attacks God. Because we are not living in the "age of reason," Paine is still called an atheist by some. How anyone could actually read the book and call Paine an atheist is beyond me.

After his adventures in France, Paine eventually returned to America, where he enjoyed the friendship of Thomas Jefferson. President of the United States of America. Although Paine knew two Presidents personally, he never attained a high governmental post, while others who had contributed much less than he to the country were placed in powerful, lucrative positions.

Like so many great men, Paine died an obscure death. Worse than that, the "godfather of his country" was not even allowed a decent resting place. His body was stolen from a weed-covered grave and reburied in France. Even to this day, no one actually knows just where the history-making man is buried.

In the biography, Dr. Woodward tells the story of Paine's life simply and convincingly. It is a definite "must" for anyone who thinks he knows Thomas Paine, and a "should" for every one.

Between the Lines

By DEAN GORDON B. HANCOCK

JOE LOUIS THE ORATOR

When I was a student in Colgate university the professor of philosophy, one Dr. French, said in one of his lectures that dogs do not talk because they have nothing to say. I did not believe that then, and I do not believe it now. The simple corollary of the statement shows its fundamental fallacy: for it is not equally true that all those who talk have something to say. In fact those who talk most seldom have much to say, while those with much to say, do but little talking. Mathematicians and scientists are seldom great orators and it can hardly be said that they have little or nothing to say.

Joe Louis is the biggest proof that there is little or no correlation between talking and knowing. Here is a young Negro who really has something to say. Any Negro who can take two perfectly good Alabama fists and beat a million dollars out of the heads and faces of white men certainly has something to say. Any Negro who can come up from Alabama and in his early 20's become the greatest performer in his field of the 20th century world has something to say. Yet what Negro in history has ascended such heights and said so little? Almost every high school graduate can give formulae for the solution of the Negro problem and when he gets a bachelor's degree he becomes a "leader," and one of the higher graduate degrees irrespective of his major simply makes him "an authority" on the race problem. It has come about that we have so many leaders that we do not have enough Negroes to follow them and they simply will not follow one another; and so we have confusion and frustration without alloy. But most of us can talk anyhow, and most surely we have proposed solutions for the race problems.

Joe Louis has never brought forth any proposal for the solution of the problem. He simply goes into some ring and knocks the guy's daylight out of some "superior" Anglo-Saxon, gets his chunk of dough, and goes on about his business. He makes his fists do the talking while our dead broke orators are solving "the problem."

It is doubtful if there is, or ever was, a Negro of prominence who exercised more common sense than that shown

Capitol Spotlight

By Louis Lantier
For the NNPA News Service

Federal appointments fall into two categories—Presidential officers and civil service employees. Presidential appointments, as indicated, are made by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Civil service appointments are made thru competitive examinations.

Under the New Deal and during the war emergency the number of Negro persons appointed in the classified civil service increased greatly, particularly in the war agencies. But since the Taft administration there has been no appreciable gain in Presidential appointments. In fact, President Wilson made only one or two.

Presidential appointments include ambassadors, ministers and consuls. There are in the foreign service of the United States a total of 1,067 diplomatic, consular and foreign service officers. Of that number only three are Negroes. They are Lester Walton, Minister to Liberia; William C. George, third secretary of the legation at Montrovia, and Clifton R. Wharton, American maritime delegate in the Azores. A fourth, Rupert Lloyd, has just passed the foreign service examination and probably will be assigned as a foreign service officer at Menrovia.

At the close of the Taft administration there were thirteen colored men in the foreign service. Henry W. Purvis was Minister to Haiti. In Liberia, William D. Gram was the Minister, Richard C. Bundy, the Secretary of the legation, and Colonel (then Captain) Charles Young was military attaché.

Consuls were George H. Jackson at Cognac, France; Christopher H. Payne at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands; William H. Hunt at St. Etienne, France; Edmond A. Burrill

(vice and deputy consul) at St. Etienne; James G. Carter, at Tananarive, Madagascar; William J. Yerby at Sierra Leone, West Africa; Leonard W. Livingston at Cape Haitien, Haiti; and Herbert K. and Herbert R. Wright at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela.

Furniss was the last colored man to serve as Minister to Haiti. President Wilson appointed Madison R. Smith of Missouri and Arthur Bailly-Blanchard of Louisiana, both white, successively, to the post at Port-au-Prince.

During the American occupation this Government was represented at Port-au-Prince by General John H. Russell as American High Commissioner. Upon the withdrawal of the United States Marines, President Hoover appointed Dana G. Munro, white, of New Jersey, on June 28, 1936, and Norman Armour, white, also of New Jersey, on July 25, 1932.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt followed Hoover's example and appointed George A. Gordon, white, on June 3, 1935, and Ferdinand L. Mayor, white, of Indiana, on July 13, 1937. The present ambassador to Haiti is Ormo Wilson, also white.

In a democracy there ought not to be traditionally white or traditionally black jobs. Every American citizen should have an equal opportunity to serve his country according to his ability and character.

Being quite realistic, however, it appears (1) that greater recognition in Presidential appointments should be given to Negro persons, and (2) that in the foreign service there are some countries in which colored men could only represent their Government.

Examples are Brazil, where Adolph A. Berle, Jr., is present ambassador, as well as in other Latin American countries which look with distrust at democracy as practiced in the United States; Ethiopia where the present ambassador is Felix Cole; the French possessions—Algeria, French Equatorial Africa, French West Africa, the French West Indies, New Caledonia in the South Pacific, Oceania in the Central Pacific, Madagascar (off the coast of South Africa).

Chicago Game

Wilberforce Beats Tigers of Tuskegee

CHICAGO—A short, snappy pass from Fred Hall to Roy McClellan, who raced nearly 20 yards to cross the goal line for Wilberforce's lone touchdown proved the deciding factor here last Friday night as the Buckeyes beat Tuskegee, 6 to 0, before 15,000 fans.

The Force ran true to pre-game predictions by pushing across their lone tally in the first quarter and then protecting that narrow margin throughout by breaking up at least four futile attempts of the hard-trying Tuskegee Tigers to score via the airways.

In winning, Wilberforce moved out of the series deadlock, pushing up their total to 7 victories to Tuskegee's 6 triumphs. There have been 4 ties in the series.

Featured by fine punting by both Hall of the Force and Mayes of Tuskegee, the game was one of the most exciting in all the series history. Time and time again the fans rose and roared as all-out passing attacks were launched. The finale was especially thrilling, with Tuskegee trying a Herculean aerial assault which threatened but they faded three times within the final five minutes.

Coach Abbott's team was young and light, but lacked nothing in gameness, and put up a stubborn battle throughout, while Coach Lewis's Ohioans held an edge in the kicking department with Hall as their ace which kept the Tigers at bay most of the evening.

The Force also uncovered one of the finest young backs seen in a long while in Hank Smith a native Ohio lad who proved to the Buckeyes' best ball-carrying threat.

The game was cleanly-played but hard-fought throughout and proved to be one of the most spectacular contests seen in Chicago in a long time.

BEHIND THE PLAY

By DON DELMONTE

NEW YORK BOXING COMMISSION ORDERS RED COCHRAN TO DEFEND TITLE OR ELSE.

NEW YORK — The New York State Athletic Commission will probably be the first boxing board to take action against Freddie Red Cochrane, world welterweight champion, in forcing the Elizabeth, New Jersey Irishman to defend his title against a suitable opponent. After years of agitation by this columnist, it is understood that the New York Commission has issued a 60-day ultimatum to defend his championship or else suffer the title to be declared vacant. This defense, the commission outlines, is to be against a suitable opponent and that suitable opponent is none other than the number two welterweight and the man called the uncrowned king of the welterweights, Ray Sugar Robinson of Harlem.

Robinson recently defeated for the fourth time the rugged Bronx middleweight, Jake LaMotta, in a fight held at Comiskey Park in Chicago. The last time Cochrane fought in New York was when he got knocked on his ear by Rocky Graziano at Madison Square Garden in the tenth round. Graziano thereby duplicated a feat he had performed in a previous 10-round fight at the Garden, but this time it was more emphatic, and Cochrane was shown definitely to be a cheese-cake champion in that he had little or nothing to offer against a slugger. Robinson, on the other hand, in his five meetings with LaMotta, has proved that as a welterweight he can hold his own among welterweights and will probably defeat or knock out the sensational Graziano when they come together as Mike Jacobs already plans; however, nobody wants to see a welterweight of Robinson's calibre having to fight heavier men to justify his being in the fight game to earn a livelihood.

As champion of his own weight, Robinson would be legitimate in meeting his various foes selected for him by his promoter, but when he has to go out to seek out middleweights to make a decent sum of money out of his boxing abilities, it is high time that somebody stepped in and sees that the boy gets justice. Justice in this case is a championship fight with Cochrane. It is a known fact that Cochrane has avoided Robinson so studiously for the one reason that he knows that he will be knocked out in any encounter with the Harlem buzz-saw. That fight, incidentally, won't draw much money because Cochrane has been proved a second rater, but Ray Robinson as Welterweight Champion fighting Rocky Graziano would pack the Polo Grounds.

A similar fight with Marty Servo, recently discharged from the Coast Guard, would also draw a full house. Servo, it will be remembered, lost a disputed decision to Robinson in the early days of Ray's spectacular career in Philadelphia.

REVAMPED LINCOLN LIONS, GRID TEAM, DEFEATS DELAWARE STATE

LINCOLN, Pa.—Scoring in each period the Lincoln Lions defeated the Delaware State eleven at Dover last Saturday with a score of 25 to 13.

Manny Rivero's greatly improved Lions monopolized play the entire afternoon. Lacy Jackson, Lion end, scored twice in the first half, taking a pass from Charlie Cabanis in the first quarter, and recovering the ball over the goal after he had blocked Stevens' punt in the second period. Bridgeforth converted successfully after the first tally, but Johnson failed to add the point in his attempt to plunge through center after the second score.

In the dying moments of the first quarter Stevens' recovered Boyd's fumble on the Lincoln 20 yard line and after six plays in the second quarter, Aldrich of State threw a 7 yard touchdown pass to Collick. Aldrich's attempt to plunge for the extra point failed, leaving the score at the half 13-6. Midway the third period, Cabanis' 25 yard pass to Boynton was good for another Lincoln tally but Bridgeforth's placement was wide. In the last quarter Lincoln sustained a 55 yard drive with Hundley, Johnson, and Hawkins doing most of the totting. Boyd then circled left end for six yards and a touchdown. Hall's kick was no good.

Soon after came the most exciting and surprising play of the game. With Delaware on its own 12, Dunbar lateraled to Collick in the flat and Collick in turn threw an 18-yard pass to Gross who threw the remaining 70 yards to score standing up. Dunbar plunged for the extra point.

Jackson, Williams, Boyd, and Hundley shone brilliantly for the Lions, while Aldrich, Stevens, and Gross were outstanding for the Delaware Hornets.

LESNEVICH WANTS FIGHT WITH JOE LOUIS

NEW YORK (CNS) — Lightweight champion Gus Lesnevich, after three years and eight months service in the Coast Guard, has put in his bid to fight Joe Louis, in case the Champ should want a line-up before he meets Conn.

Said Lesnevich, "I never made such money with the lightweight title and I haven't made any more for more than three years. That's why I'm asking Mike Jacobs to give me the Louis match, if Joe fights before he takes on Conn."

Gus expects to resume training around the middle of November and then he expects to weigh 180 pounds, five more than the light heavyweight limit. By January the 30 year old champion contends he will be ready for action.

The last time Lesnevich fought it was in 1932 against Jimmy Wins. "Seems like a long time ago," he commented.

FLORIDA A. & M. DOWNS ALA. TEACHERS, 17-2

By J. M. REYNOLDS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 13—Alabama State's fighting Hornets outplayed and outgamed the highly favored Florida A. & M. Teachers for three quarters here this afternoon before losing the fourth, the Buffaloes yielding a two-point advantage scored in the second quarter to lose 17 to 2.

The heavily manned Florida crew was stunned by the surprising strength of a Hornet line which yielded very little yardage all afternoon to the straggly array of power backs. Late in the second quarter, the Hornets drove to the Florida three before losing the ball, and on the next play Cromartie's attempted pass was grounded behind the goal line for a Hornet safety, by Shannon, end, and Davis, tackle, freshman Hornets.

The Hornets held the initiative all of the third quarter, but early in the fourth, Engram returned one of Bell's punts the entire 35 yds. he had kicked it to midfield. Three plays later Cromartie passed to Montgomery for a touchdown, the play covering 43 yds.

Woefully short on reserve strength, the tired Hornets attempted to take to the air to retrieve the loss only to have one of Bell's heaves intercepted by Powell who galloped 37 yds. for the second marker. A few plays later another intercepted Hornet pass started a Florida drive which stalled on the Hornet 13, but Williams shot a place kick from a difficult angle to chalk up three more points.

Alabama State earned 11 first downs to 9 for Florida, held the heavier foe twice within the shadow of the goal, and in general showed promise of becoming a serious threat in conference battling Florida's laterals for end runs and passes were the difference, coupled with her far superior manpower.

BUTLER U. WINS OVER FRANKLIN SCORE 32 TO 6

FRANKLIN.—The colorful Bull Dogs, Butler University grid team, defeated Franklin College under the lights here last Saturday, thus was the second victory of the Bull Dogs in three starts and allow them to still hold a top place in Indiana college football competition.

The Bull Dogs chalked up the first tally of the game in the second quarter with a pass from Robertson to Heacock over the goal line following a 71 yard advance of the ball.

Kenny Nixon took a kick-off on his own fifteen yard line and sprinted to Franklin's 28-yard line resulting in the second touch down for the Bulldogs which they scored in the third quarter. Tom Gooch (not of Senator Bilbo's lineage, after two first downs plunged over from one yard out and Ron Dadds made the extra point.

The Bull Dogs counted three more touchdowns in the last quarter. Gooch went around left end from the 15 yard line following a 62 yard advance for one; the second was made after advance which began on the Butler 42 yard line with Dadds going over from the two and kicking the additional point and the third was made when Bill Stratton intercepted a pass on his own 36 and raced to the Franklin 26 from where Robertson skirted left end to cross into scoring territory.

Franklin stopped a shutout in the third quarter when Dick Cummins and Paul Davis helped reel off three first downs that carried to the Butler 15. Davis

92ND DIV. WINS MTO BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

CASERTA, Italy.—A strong, all-Negro 92nd "Buffalo" Division nine won the baseball championship of the Mediterranean Theater of Operations, before 20,000 cheering soldiers in a double elimination tournament sponsored by MTOUSA Special Services recently at "Yankee Stadium," Leghorn, Italy.

For the purpose of the tourney Italy was divided into four geographical areas, each of which picked its winning team from intra-zone playoffs for the Leghorn Series.

Representing Zone 1, the Foglia Area, was the 2nd Bomb Group; the 3141st Signal Company from Naples-Caserta area represented Zone 2; the Rome area was represented by the 62nd Troop Carrier Group (Gliders)—Zone 3 and 4, the Leghorn-Pisa area, was represented by the 92nd Division ball club.

Easily the class of the tournament, the Buffalo boys defeated the other zone champs in short order with the 3141st Signal team providing the stiffest competition. Strong in every position, the 92nd team's line-up was studded with Negro all-stars and former professional and amateur baseball players.

Outstanding performer for all the Buffaloes was moundsman Sergeant Robert Branson of Roebuck, South Carolina, whose "windmill" style of southpaw pitching caused the crowd to howl with delight every time he wound up for the pitch. Other half of the battery was star catcher Corporal James E. Green of Stone Mountain, Georgia, who used to be catcher for the famous Satchel Paige with the Kansas City Monarchs in civilian life.

In the right field for the 92nd was Private First Class Quincy "Bud" Barbee of Durham, North Carolina, Technical Sergeant Isaac L. Wheeler, New Orleans, Louisiana, covered center field and Sergeant Consuelo Collins of Easley, South Carolina in left field provided heavy hitting power. Each of them batted well over 300 for the season and saved many a game with a timely homer.

At short-stop was Staff Sergeant Robert A. Givehands, West Plains, Missouri, who didn't let his short size prevent him from completing his special bullet-throw to first base to put out many opponents. Technician Fifth Grade Joseph J. Siddle, Summerfield, North Carolina, was first baseman; Private First Class John Hundley of St. Louis, Missouri, covered the second sack and Private First Class William E. Wilson of Richmond, Virginia, pulled down the "hot corner."

As Mediterranean Theater Champs, the 92nd "Buffaloes" were picked to represent the theater against baseball champs of ETO.

Attacks Clashes with 'Jeff' Of Lafayette Tues., Oct. 23

By J. D. ELLIOTT

Coach Alonzo Wattford's Attacks Tigers, who have won three games and tied one out of four starts this season will clash with the Jefferson high school eleven of Lafayette on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 23.

The probable Attacks line-up will be Force (2) ie; Harper (24) ie; Rosdell (26) ie; Dapree (21) ie; McClung (20) ie; Taylor (8) ie; Bryant (28) ie; Cliff (10) ie; Jackson (25) ie; Jones (17) ie; and Williams (16) ie.

The Tigers took the measure of Lincoln high of East St. Louis last Friday, on Attacks Field with a tally of 19 to 0. The first tally was made by Lewis and Bryant on the receiving end of a 35 yard pass, which Bryant carried over standing up. The same combination chalked up another touchdown in the third quarter. The extra point was made by Allan Jackson.

Don Lewis, Capt. Orville Williams and Charles "Nick" Jones were in there, in almost every play with their long runs. Incidentally Jones was injured in scrimmage a week before the game and did not go in to play until the last quarter.

In the last quarter Capt. Orville Williams carried the piskin three times for a first down, and ran it up to the two yard line where Cliff, quarterback, called an end run instead of a plunge. In this play the Tigers' speedy fullback, Williams scored. The Tigers were in scoring position or territory during the last few minutes of play when Capt. Williams stole the ball, but the gun ended the game. The Tigers will play Bowling Green, Ky. at Bowling Green on Friday of this week, Oct. 19.

TENN. STATE CRUSHES PHILANDER SMITH

NASHVILLE (AP)—Tennessee State Tigers, rebounding from their upset defeat at hands of Langston university a week ago, Saturday turned on the heat against Philander Smith college of Little Rock and rolled up a record of 13 touchdowns from cunning plays and added nine points after touchdowns for a total score of 87 points, thereby setting a 1945 record in college football.

teen attempts. The Cornhuskers completed nine of twenty-one passes for 117 yards and gained 79 yards on running plays.

I. U. CRIMSON SQUAD SWAMPS CORNHUSKERS

BLOOMINGTON.—The gallant crimson grid squad of Col "Bo" McMillin, Indiana University football coach, undefeated in three previous starts and the sensation of 1945 football did it again here last Saturday afternoon, scoring in every quarter to defeat the Nebraska Cornhuskers of the eminent "Pony" Clark to the tune of 54 to 14.

Playing the home-coming game, 20,000 fans, a near record breaking crowd was treated to a grand show of unerring passes and brilliant open field runs with near unanny and powerful line smashers.

The great Raimondi, George Talafiero, Dick Deranek, Mel Groomes, Pete Phios and Bob Miller starred in the rolling up a 27 to 0 score for the crimson squad by the end of the second quarter. The reserves yielded two touchdowns to the Cornhuskers in the third and fourth quarters while still performing in the "new crimson style."

Col. McMillin's crimson tide in tricky attacks gained 272 yards on the ground and 145 through the air completing eight out of 11 son wanted no part of Sam Langford after one meeting with the deadly-punching Nova Scotian. Langford was quoted by the white press as saying: "I'll fight Johnson any day but I want no part of that dere shaggy white bear, Jim Jeffries."

From the night Louis skyrocketed into professional boxing fame he has avoided no opponents. Well do recall Louis' ability. Like most of sky at Comiskey park, Chicago, Aug. 9, 1935.

Jim Braddock then world's champion, was dubious about Louis' ability. Line most of the experts they contended that the Primo Carnet, fight was no real test for Louis. So they tied tough, unorthodox, bawling, hard-punching King Levinsky to the tawny-complexioned Louis. The "Kip" had gone 31 rounds with Max Baer before succumbing to a kayo.

A lot of so-called "wise money" tagged Levinsky the winner by an early kayo. The result of that one round kayo by Joe Louis was typical of his death-punching career.

The bell rang, Levinsky crunched a lead Joe crunched with him. Louis shot across one or two light feeders Levinsky countering with some short ones. Then it happened suddenly. Levinsky put all he had in that wild right which had floored Mickie Walker, Tommy Loughran and Jack Sharkey. Louis, caught a high on his left shoulder and that spelled finish for the Jewish fish-monger. Lightning struck all over the lot, Levinsky was down, he was up, he was down, he was up again, he's on the floor again and there is referee Norman McGarity lifting Levinsky off the ring ropes where he sat to escape the Louis barrage of "atomic" glove bombs. The man whom leading boxers and writers picked to halt Louis had been knocked out in the space of 2 minutes and 21 seconds of the first round.

CHALKY WRIGHT TURNS BACK RUFFIN

NEW YORK, (AP) Spotting his slightly-rated white opponent around 10 pounds, Chalky Wright upset the dope when he defeated Ruffin in 10 beats two weeks ago. No modern boxer combines the dash and unpredictableness to the degree that does this Mexican colored warrior. A throwback to the breed of rough little men who back in father's day whipped larger men with no bullhoo or fanfare attached to it.

It's interesting to note that back in '42 Ruffin, one of the real bad boys of the lightweight and welter division, defeated the Chalk causing white newsmen to ask Wright to retire from the ring for good.

Chalky was a great fighter when the headlines were calling three-pley World's Champion Henry Armstrong the best fighter since the immortal Joe Gans of Baltimore. In defeating Ruffin, a man who gave clever Willie Joyce a very busy evening some months back, Wright becomes a factor in the lightweight picture again. A poker-faced ringman who owns a wide assortment of ring tricks, he was once chauffeur to boxman Mae West of movie fame who presented him with a free and clear title to a home after he quit her employ to enter the prizefighting.

JOE LOUIS SAYS—BRING THEM ON.

Radio and daily newspapers have already told you of Joe Louis' discharge from the army. The man who has been in my estimation the finest good will ambassador without portfolio our race has produced in half a century, merely states he'll defend his title against all comers.

Contrast Joe Louis with other colored immortals this writer has raved about over the years. Keeping the discussion in the 200 pound division, Louis stands out like a sore thumb in the matter of ducking no fighter. Jack John-

When it was announced that Crosby would co-star with Betty Hutton and Sonny Tufts in Paramount's Mark Sandrich production "Here Come the Waves," due Sunday at the DOUGLAS theater, he began receiving letters from Waves all over the country requesting that he sing the tune, which was first introduced in "Star Spangled Rhythm."

Crosby conferred with Sandrich and they arranged a spot in the tune film for the song. PLUS: It was eight straight hours of blowing that convinced Gene Garrick, currently seen in an important role in Republic's "Thoroughbreds," at the DOUGLAS theater, that he should abandon music as a career. The young actor formed a swing band when he was in college and played the trumpet in the group.

COUNT BASIE IN OMAHA

OMAHA, Neb. — Count Basie, the "Jump King of Swing," opens a week's engagement on stage of the Orpheum theater in Omaha Friday, Oct. 19, to get underway a cross-country theater tour that will carry the Basie entourage through the middle west and into the east by mid-December.

Following his local stand, the Count will move next week to Minneapolis where his rhythms and musical revue of all-star proportions will be the crowning card at that city's Orpheum theater for seven days starting Friday, October 26.

Next on the Basie band's itinerary will be a half-dozen one-night stands as follows:
November 2—Arkota Ballroom, Sioux Falls, So. Dak.
Nov. 3—Skylon Ballroom, Sioux City, Iowa.

Nov. 4—Tromar Ballroom, Des Moines, Iowa.
Nov. 5—Auditorium, Kansas City, Mo.

Nov. 6—Castle Ballroom, St. Louis, Mo.
Nov. 7—Tomlinson hall, Indianapolis, Ind.

The "Jump King" will resume his theater schedule in playing the week beginning Thursday, November 8, on the stage of the Colonial theater in Dayton, O., then a one-nighter on the 15th at the Trianon ballroom in Toledo, and into the Paradise theater in Detroit the week of Friday, November 16.

Basie is due back in New York December 28 to open at the 125th Street Apollo theater in Harlem.

EARL HINES AND BEVY OF STARS SCORE AT CHICAGO'S EL GROTTO

By Ted Watson

Lena Horne Demands Billy Eckstine in Pix

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Singing maestro Billy Eckstine, who turned down the male lead opposite Lena Horne in RKO's contemplated all-epic film musical, "Sweet Georgia Brown," because the producers wouldn't include his band in the deal, has apparently stymied the entire deal, for now La Horne has served notice on RKO that she wants no part of it unless Billy is her leading man.

All indications seem to point to the entire project being shelved. Maestro Eckstine, who opens a three-week stand October 19 at Club Riviera, St. Louis, has booking commitments through next January which make him unavailable until that time even though RKO should decide to find room for the Eckstine band, while Miss Horne remains adamant in her stand.

CHICAGO, (Sp.) — Earl "Fatha" Hines and a brilliant band plus a fine array of theatrical entertainment are scoring no end in the new "Star Time" revue at Charlie Cole and Harry Fields' El Grotto supper club on the southside. Hines featuring Art Walker, lyric tenor and trumpeter, Scops Carey, Bill Thompson on vibes; Lord Esix Scott and Delores Parker, singers, was welcomed back to El Grotto just a week ago and from all indications will break former attendance records at this club.

The floor-vue staged by Joe Stevenson, is headed by the famed Cuban team, The Barrancos who are tops in swing and exotic routines. LeRoy Carrington on tap dancing; Coke and Pops are the comedians, and ten lovely Grottoettes. Hines' Show Boat concert which starts at 10 p. m., each evening has been acclaimed tops by Chicago newspaper critics.

Love is always romantic, and especially so when Judy Garland and Robert Walker are the lovers. They are co-starred in "The Clock," booked for showing at the INDIANA Sunday.

"The Clock" Opens Sunday at Indiana

Judy Garland is grateful for her training in musical films. The experience proved invaluable during an intimate love scene! In M-G-M's "The Clock," which opens Sunday at the INDIANA theater, Judy plays her first straight dramatic role opposite Robert Walker. The key scene, tender and highly emotional, is played in the center of New York's Pennsylvania Station at high noon!

Amid the bustling mobs, Judy and Bob embrace, high on the huge staircase in the vast lobby. The throngs didn't faze Judy a bit. She explained to Director Vincente Minnelli that musical films developed her powers of concentration. "Doing a dance, zig-zagging between hundreds of girls and boys, ringing like mad, hitting my marks—that really taught me a lot. This is easy—all I do is stand here and whisper sweet nothings while everyone else does the rushing around!"

Keenan Wynn, Jimmy Gleason, Marshall Thompson and Ruth Brady are in the supporting cast of "The Clock."

Marion Church Has Re-Opening Services

MARION, IND.—All-day services were held Sunday by the committee in charge of the re-opening of the recently rededicated auditorium of Second Baptist church. A basket dinner was served by the members at noon. Rev. F. A. Weathers, state worker of the Indiana Baptist association, was principal speaker for the afternoon program. Music was furnished by the united choirs. Samuel Davis was chairman of the committee. Rev. L. D. Munday, pastor, * Wilson Lodge No. 12, F. & A. M. will celebrate the order's 50th anniversary Friday at Bethel church. * Rev. and Mrs. Mayfield had as their guests recently their grandson, Sgt. William Harold Mayfield, and family from Chicago. * Marion's race relations committee will present Langston Hughes to the Marion public. Oct. 26. No admission charge will be made. The time and place will be announced later. * Mrs. Irene Dean, Battle Creek, Mich., former resident, presented the famous Battle Creek Gospel chorus at Bethel A. M. E. church Sunday. The Sons of Allen club sponsored the program. Participants on the program besides the chorus included: Mesdames Zenobia Coleman, Dorothy Fullerton, Berthenia Cunningham, and Julia Milner; Miss Bertha Lee Hayes, and Messrs. Jesse Lowe, Robert Scott, and Robert J. Dean. * Spot News: One of the most delightful affairs of the season was witnessed by the many friends and members of Carver community center who attended the silver tea and open house last Sunday. Rust and yellow chrysanthemums with red candles in crystal holders enhanced the beauty of the table. White chrysanthemums and ferns were placed about the rooms. Mesdames Everett Reece, W. E. Mayfield, A. R. Martin, Laura Bales, Fred Jones, and John W. Kennell served at the tea table. Mesdames Elizabeth Rollins and Gertrude Stewart were at the piano throughout the afternoon. Out of town guests included Mrs. Minnie Chickoo, Windsor, Ont., Canada; Col. Marjorie Wickliffe and Capt. Essie Jones, Ft. Wayne; and Rev. Ralph H. Jackson, Peru. Mesdames Elizabeth Pierson and Anna M. Head were co-chairmen of the committee arranging the affair, with Mesdames Vma Claybrooks, Ramsey, Bramlett, and Pearl Bassett, Mrs. Merle L. Thurston is executive secretary at the center.

NEWS ABOUT FOLK HERE AND THERE

L. and N. Train Wrecked Near Fairgrounds At Paris, Tenn.; 5 Cattle Cars Overturned

PARIS, TENN.—Sixteen cars of the Louisville and Nashville railroads were derailed at about 9:30 Friday morning just past the fairgrounds on Paris route 4. Railroad officials had made no estimate of the total damage at this writing. There were no injuries to the train crew. All sixteen cars of the Louisville-bound train were piled up and locked together in the space of about six rails. Eight cars and the caboose remained on the track. It was unofficially reported that a broken rail caused the accident. Even greater tragedy was averted when a box car loaded with explosives crashed harmlessly among the other derailed cars. Four oil cars were included in the wreckage, and oil ran several inches deep in the ditch along the road bed, and was sprayed for many yards on each side of the tracks. Five cattle cars were overturned and splintered, with 25 cattle seriously hurt. Some of the cattle were thrown clear of the wreckage and lay dead in ditches near by. Other seriously injured cattle were removed by bystanders. State health commissioner R. B. Hutcherson states that an outbreak of diphtheria in different portions of the state have reached epidemic proportions, and has issued a warning that all parents would have their children immunized. The county health department says the most effective immunization against diphtheria is that started with one dose when the child is one year old, followed by a second dose when the child is a few months older. A booster dose should be given when the child enters the school. Diphtheria, whooping cough, typhoid fever, and smallpox can all be prevented, and parents are asked to see their family physicians for advice concerning immunization. THE NEGRO YOUTH OF TODAY, by Deloris Travis. As the youth of tomorrow, it is to be the future backbone of the world it deserves a mention, as the world looks to them. The youth of today is rather strong and yet it needs your aid to strengthen it. It seems to me that more of the Negro youth should attend college and learn a trade. We, the future of tomorrow, want to be able to tackle a few businesses with little or no trouble at all, and we need our background education. There are many youthful veterans returning home and they are planning on getting an education also. Yes, the home background is the mainstay of the youth of this day because if you've raised your child with the right kind of kindness he will prove to you that he appreciates it. The youth of tomorrow will be on a larger and better scale than today with the proper training and education. We therefore urge you to attend school.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL.
T. F. Wilson, principal.
The Central high school football team met the Merry high team for its first game played in the city. The game ended at 26-0 in favor of Merry high of Jackson, Tenn. The lineup-up was as follows: Edward L. Jackson, center; Livingston Witt, R. guard; Charles Price, R. end; James Porter, L. end; Harry L. Puckett, Quarterback; Charles Hayes, R. tackle; Elvestor Tharpe, P. back; James Harris, field; Guard; Dunbar Porter, R. end; H. L. Haynes, end; Cecil Vance, R. tackle; and Johnnie B. Washburn, P. back. With King Dunlap as the referee, and Bell Huglar, time-keeper. This is the second loss for Central, but they play Merry high in Jackson, Tenn. on Oct. 26th, when the team will meet Martin.

PEN PAL NOTES.
By Tootle.
To my many pen pals here, there, and everywhere I say "Hello" and I hope that by now you have arrived home and that I can receive a card or two. Some few weeks ago our pen pal service was discontinued but now we're ready to get back on the ball and start writing again. Just write to me the reporter at 504 Yates st. An answer will be received.

News notes among the young folks are very few. However, there have been several socials at the Tip-Top cafe with the usual bobby soxers present. We'll try to cover a few of them as soon as we're through talking with Calcedonia. The younger folks are getting back on the ball and rolling quite bit. Well, take care. See you next week, same paper, please, and by a crackling fire as it'll no doubt be a little on the cold side.

Brazil Church Plans Quiz Program Series.
By Elizabeth Bradshaw.
BRAZIL, IND.—A series of quiz programs has been planned for the near future at the Second Baptist church. Rev. William Buckner, Greenfield, led the first quiz program at BPTU Sunday.

Announcements made by Mrs. Albert Johnson. An open house was held in the afternoon celebrating the 86th birthday of Deacon Jones. Many gifts were presented and the compliments of the pastor, officers, and members of Calvary extended. The Lord's supper was administered by the pastor in the evening. Antioch Baptist church was host to the north-east district regional convention of Baptist churches Wednesday.

Ministers present included Revs. A. W. Wise, moderator; McWilliams, Anderson, Weather, Richmond, C. Henry Bell, Indianapolis, and R. Mays, Elkhart, Ind. I. P. Broadhead, pastor. The usher heard of the subject by each member. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Leatha Johnson, Mattie Frieson, Hazel Taylor, Edna Hardin, Millie Keith, Lucille Jenkins, and Wilson. * * * The Church of God in Christ No. 3 is holding its regular services on Wednesday and Friday nights, Sunday school at 9:30, with services all day Sunday at the community center. Rev. Dixon Coatie is pastor. * Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oliver and Mrs. Dorothy Dan were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Edwards. * Mrs. Dora Terry left Monday to visit her mother, Mrs. Bettie Weekly, Grady, Ark., and father-in-law, Jack Terry, Donus, Ark. * Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bolden and family, Piqua, O., were Sunday guests of their aunt, Miss Florence Bolden, and uncle, Lee Bolden. * Mrs. Mamie Harris was hostess to members of the Blue Ribbon club Monday afternoon at her home. * Pvt. Lennie Wayne, Louisville, is visiting his mother and sister, Mesdames Fannie Wayne and Ellis Hizer. * * Mrs. Gussie Mae Gully entertained a few guests Saturday evening honoring Sgt. John L. Cleaves at the home of Mrs. Robert Shiley. Sgt. Cleaves left on Monday for Camp Atterbury, after which he was transferred to Colorado. * John McGee and son gave a three-course turkey dinner in honor of their wife and mother's birthday. The table was beautifully decorated in fall flowers and pink and white candles in crystal holders. Covers were laid for Elder and Mrs. O. H. Sanders, Messrs. and Mesdames Aaron Roach, Leonard Johnson, and John McGee, Mesdames Cora Douglas and Edward Alexander, and John McGee, Jr. Out-of-town guests included Mesdames John Castleman and Blanch Tuttle and Miss Maxine Tuttle, Newcastle. Many lovely and useful gifts were received. * The deacons board of Bethel A.M.E. church gave a surprise party for Mrs. Jennie Long. Games were played. Refreshments were served to Mesdames John Henry, Julia Bass, Molly McNeely, Ora Paul, Jerome Tarver, Alice Alfred, Retta Powell, Mamie Harris, Leanne Lucas, Olive Harbin, Beckie Glenn, Anna Davis, Goldie Warr, Eugene Lewis, Maud Hooser, Julia Jones, Edith Keys, Harlene Keys, and Anna Marie Smith. * The B & I girls gave a tea Sunday afternoon for young women who were interested in becoming members of the club. Miss Lela Leeman, B & I secretary of central association, talked on the national YWCA program of the club, and presented the Misses Ida Mae and Rosemary Waid in a clever skit interpretation. Mrs. Mary Davis led in group singing, after which tea was served to Mesdames Wallace Turner, Ralph Warren, Emily Blow, Mary E. Williams, Frances Williams, Emily Harbin, Mary Burke, Irene Mullen, Edna Williams, Ruth White, Wilhelmina, Clifford Donagan, LeRoy Davis, Harry Seates, Irene Elmer, and Elberta Glenn, and the Misses Edith Cornett, Maggie Fields, Frida Taylor, Ellen Leavelle, Laura Vetril Cornett, and Olivia Leavelle. * The public affairs committee of the YWCA met Monday afternoon and plans were discussed for the program of the year. Mesdames J. S. Smith and Clifford Donagan attended the state public affairs conference in Indianapolis Wednesday, and will report the meeting and proposed plans for the state to the YWCA meeting. * This year's junior high school girls had their first meeting of the fall Monday with Mrs. Elaine Henderson, advisor. After registration there was a get acquainted period. The group served chili with tables and decorated in white crepe cloth and blue candles. The same group will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. Miss Frieda Taylor, advisor. The Girl Reserves met Wednesday afternoon. Girls present included Laura Modoc, Nile Scott, Doris Richards, Evelyn Glenn, Martha Malone, Gloria Goons, Mary Bolden, Sandra Lyles, Rosalene Jenkins, Clara Clemens, Anna Bass, Clara Edwards, Anna B. Donagan, Ellen Williams, and Emma Jean Mosley. * The senior high school Girl Reserves elected the following officers Wednesday: Jeannette Thompson, president; Cordella Hampton, vice-president; Dorothy Brown, secretary; and Cleida Pierce, treasurer.

Women's Club Opens Season In Rockport.
ROCKPORT, IND.—The Women's Improvement club opened the winter season Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lottie Taylor. A wide-stretching agenda was made up. * The Southern Indiana executive board held its first meeting at Smithfield Baptist church, Evansville. Rev. Wynn, Mt. Vernon, brought the message for the night session, while Rev. Edwards of Evansville, preached in the afternoon. Dinner and supper were served at the home of Mrs. Anna Clark by the senior mission. * Mrs. Mary Hart, Indianapolis, is attending the bedside of her niece Mrs. Elizabeth Samuels, who was operated on Thursday in Evansville. * Messrs. and Mesdames Aaron Sanford and Elbert Hartwell were Sunday guests of their parents and friends. * Deacon Bennie Shaw, Ft. Wayne, was a visitor at the prayer meeting Wednesday night. He had attended a funeral in Evansville. * Sunday school had a nice attendance.

Members of the standing program committee are Mary Alexander, Doris Taylor, Beulah Taylor, Ruth Taylor, Goats, W. Jackson, Sylvia Alexander, Doris Day, and Deloris Vargas. Plans were made for the payment of outstanding bills. A special program was arranged for Oct. 28, Rev. Chenzult reported $398.50 for the conference, including $150 for Wilberforce university. There are also $1250 in the bank as the nucleus of a building and repair fund, with over $5,000 for local uses of the church. Services on the first Sunday of the conference year, Rev. Walter Chenzult, pastor. * Mrs. Nettie E. Riffe, for many years executive director of the branch YWCA, resigned last week. She will make her home in Cleveland, where her husband recently went into business. Her resignation was accepted by the directors in the regular meeting. Mrs. Riffe was one of the founders of the branch work in 1922. Starting from a club organized by Mrs. Riffe called the "Gee-washin Club," she was presented with a five-room cottage, a $2,000 campaign fund was conducted to repair and furnish the cottage. The location was eventually changed, and Mrs. Riffe became the executive director in 1929. She has always cooperated with churches, and has been a leader of the city, being active in many organized groups. Rev. A. W. Wise, designated from the pastorate of Union Baptist church, and also resigned as president of the ministerial alliance, a position he held three years and also as moderator of the north-eastern district convention. He has accepted a call to become pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist church in Milwaukee. * Mrs. Wise was approached by her farewell session at Union Baptist Sunday, after pastoring there nearly five years. He left Thursday to take on his new charge. Rev. and Mrs. Wise will take up residence in Milwaukee the first of December. * Mrs. Wise, who held the office of treasurer of the B.T.U. of the north-eastern district convention, resigned also. * Calvary Baptist church, Dr. S. C. Richards, pastor. Selections were given by the Spiritual Harmonizers at the morning services, with a solo by Miss Laura Vetril Cornett. Dr. Joseph C. Carroll, Indianapolis, preached on the "Priceless Values of Life." Announcements made by Mrs. Albert Johnson. An open house was held in the afternoon celebrating the 86th birthday of Deacon Jones. Many gifts were presented and the compliments of the pastor, officers, and members of Calvary extended. The Lord's supper was administered by the pastor in the evening. Antioch Baptist church was host to the north-east district regional convention of Baptist churches Wednesday.

Ministers present included Revs. A. W. Wise, moderator; McWilliams, Anderson, Weather, Richmond, C. Henry Bell, Indianapolis, and R. Mays, Elkhart, Ind. I. P. Broadhead, pastor. The usher heard of the subject by each member. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Leatha Johnson, Mattie Frieson, Hazel Taylor, Edna Hardin, Millie Keith, Lucille Jenkins, and Wilson. * * * The Church of God in Christ No. 3 is holding its regular services on Wednesday and Friday nights, Sunday school at 9:30, with services all day Sunday at the community center. Rev. Dixon Coatie is pastor. * Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oliver and Mrs. Dorothy Dan were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Edwards. * Mrs. Dora Terry left Monday to visit her mother, Mrs. Bettie Weekly, Grady, Ark., and father-in-law, Jack Terry, Donus, Ark. * Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bolden and family, Piqua, O., were Sunday guests of their aunt, Miss Florence Bolden, and uncle, Lee Bolden. * Mrs. Mamie Harris was hostess to members of the Blue Ribbon club Monday afternoon at her home. * Pvt. Lennie Wayne, Louisville, is visiting his mother and sister, Mesdames Fannie Wayne and Ellis Hizer. * * Mrs. Gussie Mae Gully entertained a few guests Saturday evening honoring Sgt. John L. Cleaves at the home of Mrs. Robert Shiley. Sgt. Cleaves left on Monday for Camp Atterbury, after which he was transferred to Colorado. * John McGee and son gave a three-course turkey dinner in honor of their wife and mother's birthday. The table was beautifully decorated in fall flowers and pink and white candles in crystal holders. Covers were laid for Elder and Mrs. O. H. Sanders, Messrs. and Mesdames Aaron Roach, Leonard Johnson, and John McGee, Mesdames Cora Douglas and Edward Alexander, and John McGee, Jr. Out-of-town guests included Mesdames John Castleman and Blanch Tuttle and Miss Maxine Tuttle, Newcastle. Many lovely and useful gifts were received. * The deacons board of Bethel A.M.E. church gave a surprise party for Mrs. Jennie Long. Games were played. Refreshments were served to Mesdames John Henry, Julia Bass, Molly McNeely, Ora Paul, Jerome Tarver, Alice Alfred, Retta Powell, Mamie Harris, Leanne Lucas, Olive Harbin, Beckie Glenn, Anna Davis, Goldie Warr, Eugene Lewis, Maud Hooser, Julia Jones, Edith Keys, Harlene Keys, and Anna Marie Smith. * The B & I girls gave a tea Sunday afternoon for young women who were interested in becoming members of the club. Miss Lela Leeman, B & I secretary of central association, talked on the national YWCA program of the club, and presented the Misses Ida Mae and Rosemary Waid in a clever skit interpretation. Mrs. Mary Davis led in group singing, after which tea was served to Mesdames Wallace Turner, Ralph Warren, Emily Blow, Mary E. Williams, Frances Williams, Emily Harbin, Mary Burke, Irene Mullen, Edna Williams, Ruth White, Wilhelmina, Clifford Donagan, LeRoy Davis, Harry Seates, Irene Elmer, and Elberta Glenn, and the Misses Edith Cornett, Maggie Fields, Frida Taylor, Ellen Leavelle, Laura Vetril Cornett, and Olivia Leavelle. * The public affairs committee of the YWCA met Monday afternoon and plans were discussed for the program of the year. Mesdames J. S. Smith and Clifford Donagan attended the state public affairs conference in Indianapolis Wednesday, and will report the meeting and proposed plans for the state to the YWCA meeting. * This year's junior high school girls had their first meeting of the fall Monday with Mrs. Elaine Henderson, advisor. After registration there was a get acquainted period. The group served chili with tables and decorated in white crepe cloth and blue candles. The same group will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. Miss Frieda Taylor, advisor. The Girl Reserves met Wednesday afternoon. Girls present included Laura Modoc, Nile Scott, Doris Richards, Evelyn Glenn, Martha Malone, Gloria Goons, Mary Bolden, Sandra Lyles, Rosalene Jenkins, Clara Clemens, Anna Bass, Clara Edwards, Anna B. Donagan, Ellen Williams, and Emma Jean Mosley. * The senior high school Girl Reserves elected the following officers Wednesday: Jeannette Thompson, president; Cordella Hampton, vice-president; Dorothy Brown, secretary; and Cleida Pierce, treasurer.

THE ABBE WALLACE SERVICE

Care of The Indianapolis Recorder, 518 Indiana Avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.

B. O.—I am writing about my husband. He tells me he loves me but I don't know how to take him. We have been married for a long time, but I am finding out that he isn't true. I found a woman's name and address and telephone number in his bill fold but he denies everything. He stays out nights or occasionally. I don't quarrel with him but it embarrasses me and I hate it for the children's sake as well as my own. Our children are old enough to know that he shouldn't carry on in this way so advise me what to do?

Ans.—The husband with a wandering eye can't be treated with too much kindness and patience as it is these two factors which is more than apt to lead him back to you after his little excursions by the wayside. Let him shoulder more of the responsibility of the home, especially the care and the direction of the children. If you and your husband would take a large part in the activities of your children this will have a steadying and sobering influence on your husband as well as consuming the surplus time that he now has to run around. A man has to be made to feel important in the eyes of his wife and children if he is to be made contented and happy in the home.

M. N. A.—Here is my problem. I am with a man who is 27 and I am 17. When we first started together he treated me nice. I love him very much and sometimes I ask him if he loves me and he tells me to figure it out for myself and I am thinking that he doesn't love me. He used to kiss me each morning before he left and was real sweet to me when he came in but not any more. He nearly stopped taking me out and when he does agree to take me some place he acts like his mind is far away and not on me. When he comes in now he pets his supper and goes out and stays until late. Tell me what to do?

Ans.—The new has worn off now that the affair is getting old to him it is growing monotonous and uninteresting. You must realize right now that you made a very unwise step when you went to live with this man without marriage. Affairs built on sand, without the sanction of marriage, invariably wash away with the passage of time. You are extremely young and you should go back home and stay until you have had the proper offer of marriage.

C. B.—I am going with a minister whom I love. He won't marry as he says he has four more years in school. Now I am older than he is and wonder if it would be worth my while to wait?

Ans.—That depends upon the extent of your love for him and the depth of his devotion for you. If he is willing to announce the engagement openly and confines his dates to you alone, you should feel no fear in waiting. If you two agree to the long engagement, by all means take a course of study yourself in the Seminary. By doing so, your interests would be more congenial with his.

S. L. T.—I read your problems constantly and know that everyone who reads them, benefits to some extent. I am bringing my problem to you hoping that you can guide me in the right way. I am madly in love with a man. Recently I found out that he goes with a married woman and he seems to care more for her than he does for me. But still he says he loves me. What shall I do, must I seek companionship elsewhere? Ans.—If he has fallen for the wiles of a married woman, then his isn't the proper friendship for you to cultivate. Tell him frankly that as long as he chooses the friendship of a married woman, you will have to deny him the privilege of seeing you. Until you know that he has made his decision cultivate new friendships yourself and let him know that you too, are popular, however with the single fellows. Your love is intense, but until he straightens himself out and begins living as he should, he is an unwise prospect for you.

L. M. B.—I have been reading your advice to others, and enjoy your articles very much. I have been writing a soldier for more than a year, he's 28 and I'm 20. We haven't seen each other, on ly exchanged photos. He claims he loves me, sends me elegant gifts and when I fail to answer his letters promptly, he writes to my mother asking if I'm ill. Now he wants to marry me when he returns to the States. I've learned to enjoy his letters, appreciate his gifts and stare at his picture for hours. What shall I do?

Ans.—No plans can be formulated until you two meet personally and determine if there is a mutual bond of liking between you. He realizes, as well as you do that no serious plans should be made until you two have had the opportunity to go together and become acquainted with each other. You might write him to the effect that you look forward to meeting him when he returns but leave a loophole if you are disappointed when you see him or if you do not come up to his expectations neither of you should hesitate to voice your opinion.

P. S.—I am 23 years of age, married twice already and unsuccessful now a widow with 2 three small children. I have to work hard naturally to support them. Now I am human and have a certain longing for male companionship so I started going with what I thought a nice fellow who has a nice job but to my dismay he is married. He is nice in every way, considerate and kind to the children. His society wife seemingly is only interested in clothes and going places. He is really with her. I find he loves me and I care too much for him. I would not think of a separation on his side so now he franks and tell me what to do?

Ans.—Encouraging a married man is certainly not the thing to do. It will only bring on more grief and complications. As long as this man lives with his wife, regardless of his feeling for her, you should not encourage him or accept his attentions. You are still comparatively young and should seek a husband and a father for your children, but a married man is no likely prospect. When you associate with a married man you are decreasing your chances for getting a mate. Your friend knows this to be a fact and if he is as fond of you as you think him to be, he will not jeopardize your future by continuing this relationship when he knows it will lead no where.

N. C.—My sweetheart overseas has written three times a week for two years and now I have not heard a word in three weeks I am worried.

Ans.—Ease your mind... there is pleasant surprise awaiting you before the end of the month. Better start primping up and bring out his favorite pie recipe.

T. W. B.—I am 23 years old and I have been writing a girl for over two and half years. We have never met each other in person and we love each other very much. I write her several times and I receive several letters a week from her. She has asked me to visit her when I can. I was in the army and now I have been honorably discharged. My parents object to my writing girls, even this girl. Will you please give me some advice?

Ans.—The main objection your parents have to this affair is the idea of you committing yourself before you meet the girl. Romanes founded through mail are seldom as satisfactory as those made personally. Before getting any deeper involved with this girl it would be to your advantage as well as to hers to arrange a personal meeting. At which time, you can automatically determine if she is the right one for you to choose for a life mate. In the meantime, make friends with lots of the young girls in your vicinity

GOP LEADER: Joseph V. Baker of Philadelphia has been recently chosen chairman of the newly formed National Council of Negro Republicans. Mr. Baker is head of the Negro Republican organization in the state of Pennsylvania and is active in public relations promotion.

UAW, CIO PLANS TOLERANCE CAMPAIGN

DETROIT (ANP)—The UAW-CIO Fair Practices Committee has announced plans for a nationwide poster-of-the-month campaign of tolerance. The posters, designed by artists of international reputation, will call attention to the union's fight against employment discrimination. The identical poster will be exhibited each month in a thousand UAW locals and plants throughout the United States.

Preparation of the posters is being supervised by the Independent "Citizens" Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, headed by the world-famous sculptor, J. Davidson. George F. Addes, chairman of the Fair Practices Committee, described the first poster as a color design depicting four heads, each an outstanding hero in World War II. There is a Negro, a white gentile, a Jew and an American soldier of foreign ancestry. The legend on the poster is: "These Americans died that we may live and work together."

Addes commented: "The poster is a magnificent symbol of the racial, religious and national unity needed now for a really strong and prosperous post-war America."

as this is the normal thing for any young fellow to do. You have been out of circulation since being in the army and surely you want to have a little fun before settling down to marriage.

R. M. L.—I am married and have one child. My husband is very nice to me and says he really loves me and I really love him. But when he starts drinking he is altogether different and I want to know if he really wants me or his liquor? Must I leave him and go up north?

Ans.—This one fault of your husband's is hardly enough grounds for getting a divorce and depriving your child of a father. He loves you and his home and if you are patient but firm, you may be able to encourage him to drink less. You will get nowhere by insisting that he give up this habit altogether and becoming bossy and dictatorial. This would have a tendency to make him drink more. But a woman can work wonders with love, patience and understanding. A change to the north is not the thing for you.

F. C.—I am four years older than my husband. Since he has been overseas he writes that he has seen his mistake and wants to come home to me and our four children and do better. Do you think these four years is too much difference in our age the reason we didn't get along so well?

Ans.—This slight difference in your age is a minor factor in your marriage. Both of you have matured considerably since he has been in service and it stands to reason that you can get along better if you both exert the necessary effort. He is now ready to settle down with his family and you should give him your best support.

M. P.—I am asking your help on my problem. I have been living in this house over nine years. The landlord will not fix this place up at all neither will he do the things that have to be done around here. I have a promise of a house and I am undecided about taking it when it becomes vacant.

Ans.—Take the house if you are fortunate enough to be able to rent it. Living conditions where you are, are almost unbearable during the winter months and a change will certainly be to your advantage. There is very little your present landlord could do until building materials are more plentiful. Be sure to sign a lease on the new place before notifying your present landlord that you intend to vacate. This will protect you and the owner as well.

NEW NATIONAL FORMED IN N.Y. GOP GROUP

NEW YORK.—The National Council of Negro Republicans was formed here recently with plans to control various branches of the party throughout the land on relations with Negro people.

The new organization has the full endorsement of Herbert Brownell Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee and many prominent Negro people in all areas where there is any appreciable number of Negro voters. Joseph V. Baker, Philadelphia public relations figure has been chosen to head the organization.

The officers of the organization other than Mr. Baker are Harold Burton, Assembly District leader, New York, vice-chairman; Sidney R. Redmond, St. Louis attorney and former western campaign leader, secretary; Ernest T. Wells, Pittsburgh, treasurer.

Other members are Joseph S. Mitchell Jr., Mass.; James M. Stokett Jr., Rhode Island; William O. Walker, editor the Cleveland Call-Post and member of City Council, Ohio; William A. Dart, Assistant City Solicitor, Atlantic City, N. J.; Sidney Davis, Assembly District leader, New York.

DUNBAR OFFERED LEADERSHIP OF GREAT BERLIN ORCHESTRA

By Verna Arvey

HOLLYWOOD, (CNS).—The startling news came over the French radio last Monday that Rudolph Dunbar, Negro conductor, had actually been nominated Conductor-in-Chief of the 65 year old Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, long a bulwark in European musical life, and a musical institution respected all over the world.

Mr. Dunbar had been invited to conduct several concerts at the beginning of September and won a triumph so outstanding that Berlin's newspapers wrote enthusiastically about his sensitive conducting and his superior musical ability. Some people in Berlin had thought that Negroes belonged to a decadent race until they heard

Rudolph Dunbar conduct, and at that point their ideas changed.

Generously, they admitted that they had been wrong, and took the new young conductor to their hearts. When they wanted to elect a new permanent leader, they first offered Dunbar the post of associate conductor. Dunbar declined, because of his many other commitments. Then it was decided to offer him the chief post.

This is a fantastic thing to have happened in Germany, about which we have heard so many tales of race prejudice in the past ten years. But the more fantastic aspect of the situation is that there is at present not one symphony orchestra in democratic America which would do the same thing, no matter how capable the Negro candidate for such an honor might be.

It is true that William Grant Still and Dean Dixon have been named conductors with major symphony orchestras, and it is to be hoped that before long Dunbar will conduct in America so that we may all hear this man who has made such an outstanding success in the highest musical circles. But to date, not one major symphony orchestra here would even consider a Negro as its permanent conductor, and it will probably be many years before this can come to pass.

Lucky Strike Wants White Help Only

RICHMOND, Va. — (ANP)—The word "white" was placed in parentheses in a Lucky Strike cigarette help wanted ad that appeared in the local News Leader, a daily newspaper, on Oct. 1.

The ad, about two columns by four inches, read:

"Help (white) to make Lucky Strike cigarettes. . . Men and women who desire opportunity for good pay and postwar opportunities should apply to 26th and Cary streets. Ideal working conditions. . . rapid advancement. Time and one-half over 46 hours, eight percent extra for night work. Now working 48 hours per week. Girls must be over 18 years of age."

Lucky Strike cigarettes a known favorite of many Negro smokers, has jobs for "white" workers only.

They know that bank robbery is wrong, and they do not like to do wrong things. In that simple illustration lies the solution of the grave social evils we call discrimination and prejudice. We must convince all that such practices are more harmful to the community than a looted bank.

The formula for us and for the peoples of the world is stated in the United Nations Charter. The purposes for which this terrible war has been fought to an end is recognition of human rights, and the same objective underlies the specific wording of the Charter. These are not mere empty words, but they will remain so unless we give them concrete meaning in every environment. They should not be dismissed as a religious concept because they are more than that. They are held sacred, we are happy to know by many honest men of no particular religious conviction.

The harboring of prejudice never fails to react adversely on the one who indulges in it. At the very least he becomes steadily a more unhappy man. And very often, the outraged principles of his fellowmen overflow into retributive action against him.

Prejudice must go. There is simply no room for it in a decent world.

BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER

Shows how you can

Glamorize your hair

Like popular, lovely Dolores Fairfax who recently won the national beauty contest at Atlantic City—and other celebrities of the stage and society—you too can have lovelier-looking hair!

It's easy to achieve—and pleasant too—with Snow White Hair Beautifier. This new and delightful dressing keeps your hair looking lovely, lustrous, glossy-smooth . . . and helps preserve the smartness of your hair style. So why detract from your charm with dull, drab-looking hair? Why envy others who can wear the smart, attractive new hair styles? Choose the hair style that's most becoming to you . . . and let Snow White help you keep it that way! Snow White Hair Beautifier is available in both Regular and Heavy, to suit different types of hair.

Here's another view of the lovely new hair style that Dolores Fairfax models in the photograph above:
